620,000 Persons Return To Work During September

MISS PERKINS REPORTS FOR SIX MONTHS

Secretary of Labor Says 2,700,000 Returned to Work Since Last March

PAYROLLS INCREASE

Report Based on Survey by Bureau of Labor Statistics Released Today

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(UP)—Return of more than 620,000 persons to work in September is indicated in 17 industrial and business groups surveyed by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, Secretary of Labor Perkins announced today.

"This increase in employment does not represent the total number of persons returned in all branches of industry," Miss Perkins said. She estimated that re-employment of 620,000 constituted a payroll gain of $10,000,000 weekly.

"Measured from the low point of last March," she said, "the figures show an estimated gain in the 17 industrial groups surveyed over the six month interval of more than 2,700,000 workers with an increase of nearly $64,000,000 in total weekly wages disbursed in September over the weekly payroll aggregates of March."

She pointed out that September was the sixth consecutive month of increase of payrolls and employment, and that the factory employment curve had risen to the April, 1931 level and payrolls to the October, 1931 level.

The index of employment based on 100 per cent in 1926 is now 73.5, she said.

More than 200,000 in September found employment in manufacturing industries and a slightly larger number in retail trade establishments according to the survey.

"The industries surveyed each month by the Bureau of Labor statistics normally employ about 20,000,000 of the 49,000,000 gainful workers in the country," Miss Perkins said.

"Only a very small portion of the more than $300,000,000 let in contracts to date by the Public Works Administration has been awarded on September 15. The increase in employment resulting from these contracts is not reflected in the September tabulations."

This Hoarder Wanted To Get Publicity

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 17.—(UP)—A small town doctor who reportedly wanted to see his name in print was among 11 persons named today in anti-hoarding warrants issued here.

Federal agents accused Dr. E. O. Roden, Rio Vista, of holding $1,000 in gold coin despite the president's edicts against hoarding.

"I've never broken into the newspapers for any reason so I thought I would go in history as a gold hoarder," the agents claimed Roden told them.

ORDER HOLDS MACHADO TO BE CUBAN OUTLAW

Former President and 26 Others Facing Formal Charges of Murder

HAVANA, Oct. 17.—(UP)—Former President Gerardo Machado and two of his principal cabinet officers and 24 of his aides were proclaimed outlaws today, then faced formal charges of murder and malfeasance.

Property valued at $25,000,000, believed by the government to be held in Cuba by the 27 defendants, was ordered seized as bond for their civil responsibility for acts charged against them.

The order was tantamount to confiscation of their entire fortunes unless they returned to face charges.

Besides Machado, those named included Octavio Aeverhoff, his minister of justice; Octavio Zubizarreta, his secretary of interior; Jose Izquierdo, a prominent supporter, and a number of politicians and army officers.

Announcement of the charges was made after they had been filed with Judge Morales Del Casallo. Machado is in Montreal, the others are refugees. A formal order was issued refusing them bail, nevertheless.

FOUR ARE ARRESTED AS COUNTERFEITERS

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 17.—(UP)—A sweeping series of raids against a reputed counterfeit bond ring culminated today in the arrest of four men, including the accused ring leader.

Department of justice agents and police arrested the quartet in an apartment house where they were said to have lived in luxury while selling stolen bonds and counterfeit securities from a downtown office. Agents alleged their operations reached well above $100,000.

The suspects were booked on suspicion of counterfeiting as Martin (Pat) O'Malley, the reputed ring leader; George Keller, 46, James Sellers, 33, and Albert Yarnmouth, 40.

Federal agents charged them with being confederates of seven other suspects arrested in raids last week when some $53,000 in spurious money and stolen municipal and state bonds were seized.

Government In Move To Help Needy

Range Cattle and Butter Will Be Purchased for Poor This Winter

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(UP)—The government moved today to carry out its pledge to bulwark private charity so that adequate relief will be provided for the destitute this winter.

Relief Administrator Hopkins announced a "substantial quantity" of range cattle and the canner and cutter grade would be purchased to give beef to those who otherwise would go hungry. The cattle will be purchased in the far west.

Simultaneously the agricultural adjustment administration revealed it would remove from the market 9,000,000 pounds of surplus butter a month and turn it over to Hopkins for relief distribution.

The treasury allocated $10,000,000 from relief and processing tax funds to buy the butter.

Hopkins said both purchase plans had been worked out with care to dovetail efforts to assist farmers and supply food to the unemployed.

The butter purchase was aimed at reducing a surplus of 70,000,000 pounds which has depressed prices.

"The needy," Hopkins said, "have been denied meat and butter while cattle, dairy and hog men have suffered from poor markets."

Meanwhile Hopkins' organization formulated plans for buying coal, clothing and shoes. The quantities have not yet been determined.

Distribution of relief funds for rents also was considered.

STATE WIDE SEARCH FOR SLAYER MADE

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Oct. 17.—(UP)—Discovery of a blood-stained automobile spurred the search today for an Ohio farmer and reputed ex-convict, suspected in connection with the brutal murder of Mrs. Laura Ella Straw, 74-year-old widow.

Search was aimed too at a red-haired woman said by police to have been an acquaintance of Thomas M. Jones whose disappearance preceded the discovery of the dismembered body of Mrs. Straw in San Diego bay.

The blood-stained automobile was found in a used car lot. Police were told by a salesman that Jones drove the machine away on a demonstration last Saturday night and returned it an hour later.

Depositors in closed California banks were advised today not to entertain "undue expectations of quick results" from Washington announcements of a new federal board to facilitate liquidation of the closed institutions.

Edward Rainey, state superintendent of banking, pointed out that "news reports indicate no new policy regarding loans to closed banks but rather the creation of a new agency for giving the subject intensive attention."

PROBE REVEALS RETIRED BANK HEAD GETS $100,000 YEARLY SALARY FOR BALANCE OF LIFE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(UP)—The Chase National bank was revealed today by senate stock market investigators to be paying a salary of $100,000 a year for life to Albert H. Wiggin, retired head of the bank and its securities affiliate.

He retired as chairman last January and later as a director and member of the executive committee.

The executive committee of the bank voted the $100,000 salary to Wiggin on December 21, 1932 on motion of F. H. Ecker, president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company.

The resolution of the board stated that the salary was to be paid "during his life" to Wiggin in "discharge in some measure of the obligations of the bank to him and in anticipation that he always will be prepared to assist with his advice."

The executive committee expressed the hope Wiggin would remain a member of the board and of the executive committee. Wiggin was retired at half pay. He testified his salary before retirement was $202,000 annually and that in some previous years em-

NORTH DAKOTA PRICE FIXING PLACES BAN ON OF CRUDE OIL WHEAT EXPORTS ORDERED TODAY

Drastic Action Taken by Governor to Force Up Price of Grain

BISMARCK, N. D., Oct. 17.—(UP)—Gov. William Langer, North Dakota's two-fisted executive today clamped down an unprecedented embargo impounding the state's 60,000,000 bushels of wheat within its borders in a dramatic effort to force immediate federal action to help the farmer.

The embargo becomes effective at midnight tonight and continues "until revoked."

As grain prices crashed downward in fear of Europe's rising war talk, Langer called upon his fellow-executives of agricultural states of the west to enact similar embargoes and force the federal government to act.

The governor had no hope that by halting grain shipments out of North Dakota he would immediately raise the price of wheat. He launched the move in hope he could spur federal authorities to act quickly to relieve the economic distress of the farmer.

The governor took his bold step on a day that saw grain prices continue the fall which started last week and which was halted on the

RUM RUNNER GOES AGROUND $15,000 IN LIQUOR SEIZED

The power boat "Oakwood" and fine liquors valued at over $15,000 were seized by Orange county and Laguna Beach officers at Three Arches this morning after the boat had gone ashore in a dense fog.

Over 100 cases of liquor had been recovered up to noon and it was believed that 100 to 150 additional cases were aboard the craft. Included in the cargo were Dewar whiskey from Scotland, Creme de Cacao from France, Coon Hollow whiskey and a large quantity of unlabeled whiskey from the British Columbia Distilling company. Presumably this latter liquor was to be labeled at the pleasure of the bootleggers, officers said.

The "Oakwood," registered from San Francisco, is equipped with a powerful motor and authorities believe that she made regular trips from Vancouver and San Francisco to Southern California coast sections. The boat is 35 feet long.

A large hole was made in the hull of the rum runner when she struck the rocks at Three Arches. It is believed that the crew was attempting a landing on smooth beach but lost

DEFENDANTS IN OIL SUIT HALT STATE'S CASE

Trial Adjourned to Nov. 7 to Permit Service on Property Owners

DENIED a writ of prohibition by the Fourth District Court of Appeals, Roland Swaffield, attorney for E. E. Combs and the Terno Oil company, reached into his bag of tricks this morning and pulled out a new one that stopped proceedings until November 7 in the State of California's attempt to halt alleged "whipstocking" and tapping of an oil pool underlying state lands at Huntington Beach. He presented an affidavit proving defendants named in the state complaint were not owners of the land involved nor were they lessees of the land.

Hearing on the state's petition for a court order to survey Terno Well No. 4 was resumed this morning in department two before Judge L. N. Turrentine of San Diego. After the introduction of supplemental affidavits of Arthur H. Alexander and C. B. Jamison the state rested.

Swaffield presented an affidavit by E. E. Combs, alleged in the state complaint to be the owner of the property involved in the action, and asked permission to read it should be placed before the court immediately to prevent probable waste of time.

The affidavit revealed that proceedings, to date, were faulty in that the proper parties had not been named as owners of the property and the court is without jurisdiction until the true owners of the property have had their day in court.

Points Out Error Swaffield pointed out that under the state's complaint charging trespass the Terno Corporation Limited had been named as operators of the Terno Well No. 4 and Combs as owner of the property. He declared that while the Terno Corporation Ltd. had been named in the complaint it had not been named in the order to show cause.

As a matter of fact the Terno Corporation Ltd., has no interest in the well, either as operator or lessee, it was contended.

In the affidavit by Combs and read to the court it was declared that the property is held as tenants in common by Roscoe E. Oakes, Margaret H. Oakes, Eldredge Combs, Frende W. Combs and E. E. Combs, and is under

COTTON GROWERS TO GET OUTSIDE LABOR

FRESNO, Calif., Oct. 17.—(UP)—California cotton growers, despairing of immediate settlement of the cotton pickers' strike, today turned to outside labor to harvest the crop, much of which was sold on future contracts months ago.

The first extensive importation of strike-breakers was reported in the Tulare district. A rancher announced he would bring 25 Indians from the Tule river reservation to pick his cotton.

Scattered use of strike-breakers was noticed in other districts while leaders of the strikers, most of them Mexicans, persisted in their rejection of a mediation plan authorized by federal conciliators and accepted by a Mexican government representative.

DALADIER IS GIVEN VOTE OF SUPPORT

Tells Chamber French Army Ready for Any Eventuality; Not Isolated

REPLIES TO HITLER

Premier's Speech Received With Wild Enthusiasm at Session for Deputies

PARIS, Oct. 17.—(UP)—In a stinging, if indirect, reply to Chancellor Adolf Hitler's broadcast message of last Saturday, Premier Edouard Daladier today declared that France "is assured of her defenses of territory and liberty."

The premier's speech, received with wild enthusiasm by the chamber of deputies, brought a test vote of confidence in the cabinet by the overwhelming majority of 470 to 120.

"France is not isolated today," he declared with a note of triumph. "On the contrary, France never before had so many friends throughout the world."

Defense Assured "France," he said, "is determined to give the world an example of Singfried in facing the problem raised by Germany's brusque departure from the league, because France knows she is assured of her defenses."

The premier posed three questions for the German chancellor to answer. They were: 1. "If you are sincere, why are you avoiding an inspection of your armaments?"

2. "If you wish for disarmament, why do you start the negotiations by walking out?"

3. "If you wish others to disarm, why do you start by asking for increased armaments for yourself, instead of offering to destroy your machine guns?"

Although Daladier did not refer directly to Hitler's suggestion for a Franco-German discussion of armaments, regarded as an attempt to break the British-French block, his speech was regarded as emphasizing France's determination to stand by the present international setup and refuse to deal with the Reich individually.

Will Rogers

BEVERLY HILLS, Oct. 17.—(To the Editor of The Register.) The best omen of international good will is that conferences are getting shorter.

Now if they will do away with 'em entirely there will be no war. The biggest one ever held was at Versailles after the war, and all the others held since then was to fix something that was done wrong at that one. The biggest disarmament conference was at Washington in 1922, and all the other disarmament ones have been held to try and fix what was done wrong at that one. So the ideal thing is, don't hold the original conference, then you won't have to hold any more to fix anything. The same bunch of delegates go to all of 'em anyhow, so just put 'em on a government pension, let 'em put on their high hats, take movies of 'em and play like they was at a conference.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

Marshall's momentous discovery of gold in 1848 and the subsequent "gold rush" to California are described in contemporary diaries, newspapers and pamphlets.

The attainment of statehood by California is represented by a rare copy of the first printing of the constitution, adopted on November 13, 1849.

The California exhibit may be seen by all visitors to the public exhibitions, including the art gallery and the botanical gardens. Applications for admission of clubs, student groups, and individuals may be made immediately through the exhibitions office, Huntington Library, San Marino, California.

Original reports and proclamations of military and naval officers tell of the events leading up to the American occupation. Exhibited is Commodore Stockton's formal proclamation of August 17, 1846, in his own hand, to the effect that "California now belongs to the United States."

The exhibit commences with an account of the expedition sent out by Cortez in 1533 and continues with the records of the padres, among which is a letter in the handwriting of Father Kino, April 26, 1683, in which he says of California: "The land is good, and the temperature pleasant; there is an abundance of fish, wood, birds, cats, rabbits, etc."

DEFENDANTS IN OIL SUIT HALT STATE'S CASE

lease to the Termo Company. This ownership and lease was effected July 8, Swaffield alleged.

L. G. Campbell, of the state attorney-general's office, protested on the grounds that the proceedings could continue and the new owners be included as fictitious defendants, individuals and corporations.

Attorney General U. S. Webb, present in court, indignantly at the new turn taken in the action, addressed the court "we have urged the proceedings be conducted as rapidly as possible but have been balked at every step. The state may become annoyed."

He intimated that should the present defendants insist on further delay until new proceedings were instituted and the owners of the property be served that similar actions might be instituted against other wells in the district.

"The state," he declared, "if it does file other actions will also ask for injunctions to halt all operations."

Bad Faith Charged

Webb also accused Swaffield of bad faith and an attempt to delay the hearing by withholding facts relative to the ownership of the property until this date. Swaffield took exception to Webb's remarks and declared that he only learned of the true ownership of the property a few days after the first appearance in court in connection with the case and had but recently, since the last date of court appearance, completed checking up the facts.

"I thought," he informed the court and Webb, "that we were doing a fine thing in bringing our discovery to the attention of the court at the time instead of waiting until a later date and forcing a repetition of the hearing."

Following a conference with Campbell and Webb Shadle, another attorney in the state forces, Attorney General Webb informed the court that he was inclined to think that all persons having an interest in the property should be served with papers in the case and asked for a postponement until such service could be made.

More Actions

He said that it was more than probable that, while the papers are being prepared and served, the state will start similar actions naming at least two other wells owned by the same people.

Before springing his surprise Swaffield objected to the court issuing any order for a survey of Termo Well No. 4 to ascertain whether or not the well had been "drifted" into the state oil pool.

This objection, he said, was on the ground that to make such a survey it would be necessary to sink an instrument into the hole and to suppress oil and gas through introduction of mud, water or oil. To do this, he said, would impregnate and seal the sides of the hole and porous oil sands and probably permanently stop the flow of oil and gas.

He also pointed out that there was a grave possibility that in making the survey it would be impossible to restrain the force of the oil and gas with the result that an explosion might occur endangering property and life.

PRICE FIXING OF CRUDE OIL ORDERED TODAY

Retail prices will be determined by adding taxes and allowed minimums for retailers to these wholesale minimums.

The minimums may be protested before Nov. 15 and are subject to change by the petroleum administration board.

The projected price fixing is the government's first venture into this realm under any code.

The complicated schedule provided a different price for every producing area.

MERCURY HITS HIGH POINT OF THE YEAR

Residents of Santa Ana were plenty warm today and no wonder, for today was the hottest day of the year. According to the government thermometer of Knox and Stout the mercury soared to a high point of 105 degrees at 12:10 p. m. at the street level. From the high point, however, the mercury started to drop until near 1 o'clock this afternoon it was down to 102 degrees. The high point on the thermometer on top of the First National Bank building was 94 between 12 and 1 p. m.

WORLD AFFAIRS GROUP URGES ARMS CONFERENCE DELEGATES OBSERVE PROMISES MADE

A resolution urging that United States delegates to the Disarmament Conference be instructed to harmonize their actions with promises made to Germany at the time the Versailles treaty was signed, was forwarded today to President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull as a result of action taken at last night's meeting of the Santa Ana Council of International Relations.

The action followed a talk on safe investments in Cuba would be safe.

He declared that 80 per cent of the economic interests of Cuba are in the hands of United States citizens not living in Cuba. Under the Machado regime, Gardner said, quoting several writers, business and politics became so corrupt that the legal profession became nothing more than messengers carrying bribes between American business interests and Cuban officials.

Other officers selected are: T. H. Glenn, vice president; Mrs. Blanche McCoy, secretary; executive committee, Nancy Elder, James Anderson, Clarence Gustlin and Dr. J. L. Stevenson.

Text of the resolution, which was prepared by J. F. Burke and Stella Mueller and which was forwarded by telegram to Washington today, follows:

Whereas, the Allied nations entered into an agreement in the Versailles Treaty to resume arms; and

Whereas, now 14 years have elapsed since this agreement was entered into with Germany, and through one excuse or another nothing has been done; and

Whereas, the obligations are upon the United States and the other Allies to fulfill their part of the agreement.

Therefore, Be It Resolved, in the interest of justice and of peace and of international economic agreement, without which the nations cannot financially recover, we respectfully urge our National Administration at Washington to instruct our representative at Geneva to stand for such disarmament, in every detail, as will harmonize our attitude with our promise, and will force the other nations to either accept such action or publicly assume the responsibility for failure.

Increase Armaments

In his talk on the present Disarmament Conference which has recessed for 10 days while an effort is being made to persuade Germany to participate, Martin stressed the point that while all nations of the world, practically, have declared themselves as favoring army reductions they actually have increased their armaments.

The average increase of the six leading powers he said is 65 per cent between 1913 and 1932.

The United States, he declared, leads in this arms increasing program, having increased their armaments 197 per cent since 1913.

Japan is second on the list with a 142 per cent increase; Italy 44 per cent; Great Britain 42 per cent while France and Russia have each increased their armaments 30 per cent.

These increases, Martin said, have been made in spite of the promises made Germany at the time of the signing of the treaty at Versailles. The powers then told Germany that all the nations would disarm and that the reduction of Germany's army to a mere police force was the first step.

Germany Willing

Martin stressed the point that despite Germany's withdrawal from the arms parity the nation has voiced its willingness to cut its armaments if the same program is followed by other nations.

Discussing the Cuban revolution A. B. Gardner declared that, according to many leading writers on political and world affairs the Platt amendment, giving the United States the right to intervene in Cuban affairs, is responsible for the majority of that country's difficulties.

The Platt amendment, which is practically a part of the Cuban constitution, he said, has been held responsible for the dictatorship of Machado. This dictatorship, he said, continued for eight years and has been branded as the most corrupt, heartless and fiendish in history.

Blame U. S. Interests

United States business interests in Cuba also was held to blame for the retention of Machado in power. Gardner said that less than a year before his forced abdication Machado told a group of financiers in New York that, so long as he was in power, United States

RELIEF GROUP AGAIN NAMED BY TRUSTEES

Unemployment activities of Santa Ana will again be under the supervision of a citizens' committee of five, following action of the city council last night in reappointing the committee which functioned last year.

The group consists of J. S. Smart, chairman; Dr. George A. Warner, W. H. Spurgeon, Hugh Gerrard and W. D. Ranney. The committee will negotiate this week with Harry Jones, state administrator for the federal cooperative relief program, and determine what measures will be taken to help the unemployed groups in Santa Ana.

The committee resigned several months ago when the need for their services with unemployed groups virtually ceased. At a joint meeting with the council, committee and relief officials several days ago, the group offered its services again if needed.

Urges Inspection OF ALL VEGETABLES

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 17.—(UP)—A closer county inspection of vegetables was urged today as more than 100 persons were recovering from attacks of food poisoning.

Meanwhile, authorities sought to determine definitely the cause of the poisoning, at first ascribed to improper spraying of vegetables with arsenic.

Of those stricken, the greater number were in Glendale, where nearly 100 attendants at a church supper were later taken ill. Investigators heard, however, that two persons became ill after the church supper though they had eaten nothing but ice cream.

COUNCIL NOTES

Mayor Clyde Watson of Orange requested Mayor Paul Witmer to appoint a representative to attend the meeting of the board of supervisors today and discuss the opening of Glassell street to Santa Ana.

Ed B. Fern applied for permission to operate a miniature race-track for children at either First and Orange streets or in the 1300 block on South Main street. The request was referred to the planning commission.

The new Highline road up San Gabriel Canyon from the National Forest Boundary to the junction of the West and North Forks is now open and this section is oiled and in good condition.

WATER OFFICIAL HOLDS PRACTICE BENEFITS FEW

Flatly terming water spreading operations as practiced in the San Bernardino district as "water hogging," W. P. Rowe, member of San Bernardino's board of water commissioners, has issued a statement in which he declared that the term, "water conservation," has been "pretty badly overworked lately."

The statement was considered particularly significant by water-minded residents of Orange county, coming from a San Bernardino official.

Rowe made his statement in commenting on a story which appeared in the San Bernardino Sun to the effect that he aided in drawing up an engineering survey which Orange county water interests are using in an attack on water spreading activities in the upper Santa Ana river.

The statement made by Rowe follows:

"The San Bernardino Sun of October 15 carries the headline 'Rowe Assists Move to Block Conservation.'"

Uses Plain Language
"This word 'conservation' has been pretty badly overworked lately. What you are pleased to call 'conservation' can more properly be called 'water hogging.' In this locality it is practiced for the few at the expense of the many. It is the cloak behind which many well-paid exploiters operate their racket."

"You may rest assured that so long as the so-called conservation on Lytle creek is accomplished for the benefit of the Fontana interests at the expense of this city's water rights, I will oppose it. You may also rest assured that until this city obtains some modification of the stipulated judgment in the San Bernardino-Riverside case, I will oppose the policies of the able president of the Riverside Water Co. and incidentally, president of the Water Conservation association, operating on the Santa Ana river."

Well Level Low
"Under the same headline you state 'San Bernardino for years has derived a considerable portion of its domestic water supply from Lytle creek. You may be interested in learning that because of the Lytle creek agreement and 'conservation,' the water level at the city's well in Lytle creek has been so low that it has been pumped less than a total of 15 days during the past seven years. Surely not a very considerable supply."

"None of the spreading operations of the city of San Bernardino on Devil canyon, Waterman and East Twin creeks were attacked by the Irvine company. These were omitted at the specific request of both Mr. Finkle and myself (F. C. Finkle of Los Angeles) and would have been protected had negotiations for a compromise on the Lytle creek suit been successful."

"On October 18 the directors of the newly organized Orange county water district will be elected. They will probably assume the prosecution of the Irvine company suits. Should it prevail in the Lytle creek suit we may expect the normal flow of Lytle creek to pass and replenish our well there. In that event we can once more put the well on production."

"As regards the Mill creek and Santa Ana suits, the city of San Bernardino is not concerned as under the terms of the Riverside agreement we have no rights at stake. The Water Conservation association makes no attempt to spread water on Plunge, City, Sand, East Twin, Waterman and Devil canyon creeks, which constitute the source of supply to the Antij basin wherein lie our rights."

City To Cooperate With Orange On Big Holiday Event

If Orange city officials and American Legion parade chairman wish to ask Santa Ana to sponsor a rodeo and horse show in the Municipal Bowl as part of the annual Armistice Day celebration to be held in Orange this year, the city council will be glad to consider the proposal, it was indicated yesterday.

John Wilcox and Ralph McCutcheon, managers of the recent Fiesta Del Oro, appeared before the council yesterday and outlined proposed plans of a horse show to be largely presented by talent which appeared at the carnival last summer. They informed the council that Orange might want to seek help from Santa Ana because of inadequate facilities for a show of the proposed type. They said it would in no way compete with the Orange celebration but be a part of it, entirely under the jurisdiction and control of the Orange American Legion post, which is in charge of the annual county-wide celebration.

An official invitation to enter the Armistice Day parade was read to the council from the Orange American Legion. The theme of the pageant will be California history. The councilmen accepted the invitation and announced that the Municipal band will march as usual this year.

LIBRARY CLOSED
Contrary to earlier reports, Huntington Library and Art Gallery, San Marino, will not open until November 1 but will remain closed during the month of October.

Local Briefs

Fred Russell, Newport Beach was given first aid treatment at the Orange County hospital yesterday for a dog bite on the left hand.

Pete Alvarez, 23, prisoner at the county jail, was given first aid treatment at the Orange County hospital yesterday for a smashed finger received while working in the jail kitchen.

Harry B. Olson, operator of a barber shop at 416 North Sycamore street, today announced the addition of George I. Tella, formerly of Joe Steele's barber shop, to his staff.

MONEY TALKS IN VOTING ON WATER BOARD

Voters in seven divisions of the newly created Orange County Water district go to the polls tomorrow in 58 precincts to elect directors. Polls will be open from 8 a. m. until 7 p. m.

Only property owners in the district may vote and their vote is based on the assessed value of their land. Thus if a man owns land valued at $10,000 he is entitled to 100 votes. These votes may be cast in any precinct of the division where the land is located. In the event a voter owns property in more than one division he may vote the assessed value of his property in each district. Partisans may vote their share of the property.

With the assessed valuation of the district placed at $1,377,900 the potential vote is placed at 713,755.

In Division No. 1 the assessed valuation is $7,529,800 permitting 75,298 votes. Election in this division will be contested by W. C. Mauerman, Katella rancher and H. Clay Kellogg of Garden Grove.

Division No. 2 with an assessed valuation of $11,236,150 has 112,362 votes. Candidates in this division are C. A. Palmer, Olive, rancher and Orange county representative for the Federal Land Bank, and George L. Bates, rancher and civil engineer.

In Division No. 3 the assessed valuation is $11,160,655 giving a total potential vote amounting to 111,607. The candidates from this district are: William T. Wallop, Placentia, superintendent of the Anaheim Union Water company and Ralph McFadden, Placentia, president of the Orange County Farm Bureau and Associated Chambers of Commerce.

William Schumacher, Buena Park, former supervisor, is the only candidate for election from Division 4. This division has an assessed valuation of $5,380,630 and 53,807 potential votes.

Election of C. Roy Browning, Irvine company engineer is uncontested in Division No. 5 where the assessed valuation of $10,043,350 places the potential vote at 101,044.

In Division 6 the assessed value is $13,160,930 with a potential vote of 131,610. Election in this division will be contested by Willis T. Warner, Huntington Beach business man and Vernon T. Hill, Ocean View bean grower.

In Division No. 7 the assessed valuation of property is $11,755,645 with a total vote of 117,557. Frank Champion, mayor of Laguna Beach is the only candidate from this district.

MEDICAL ADVICE
If you want to
... keep the bowel action regular and comfortable
... make constipated spells as rare as colds
... avoid danger of bowel strain
—use a liquid laxative

Can constipation be overcome? "Yes!" say medical men. "Yes!" declare thousands who have followed their advice and know.

You are not apt to cure your constipation with salts, pills and tablets, or any habit-forming cathartic. But you can overcome this condition just by gentle regulation with a suitable liquid laxative.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has the average person's bowels just as regular as clockwork in a few weeks' time.

Why Hospitals use a liquid laxative
The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured. The action can be controlled. It forms no habit; you need not take a "double dose" a day or two later. Nor will it irritate the kidneys.

The right liquid laxative will bring a perfect movement, with no discomfort at the time, or afterward.

The wrong cathartic may keep you constipated as long as you keep on using it!

In buying any laxative, read the label. If it contains a doubtful drug, don't take it. If you

GLASSSELL ST. ROUTE OKAYED BY SUPERVISORS

Authorization to the district attorney to draw up a resolution to be presented to the state highway commission expressing the approval of the Orange county board of supervisors of the routine of the proposed secondary highway through Glasssell street, Orange, and down through Grand avenue and McClay streets, Santa Ana, instead of the Tustin avenue routing, was made by the board today.

The action came following reading of a letter from the Santa Ana planning commission endorsing the route and the request from George Wells, Santa Ana, that the board endorse the Orange and Santa Ana routing. The letter was presented by a delegation of about 15 property owners interested. The request asked that such right-of-way as necessary be acquired to make the necessary extensions in the proposed highway.

Most of the session this morning was devoted to hearing arguments in favor and in opposition to splitting up the Centralia school district. Edward H. Marxen argued in favor of the withdrawal of the northwest corner of the district. This section would take away $350,000 in assessed valuation from the $307,440 assessed valuation in the district. Other petitions will be presented to the board asking that other sections of the Centralia district be annexed to other districts nearby.

Some confusion was evident, inasmuch as it was pointed out that the withdrawal also would affect the assessed valuation of the Anaheim and Fullerton Union High school districts. Tom McFadden argued against the withdrawal, stating that Anaheim has a building program under consideration which would not be possible if the assessed valuation is lost. Proponents claimed that the Centralia school is unsafe due to damage from the earthquake; that it is impractical to build a new school, and that residents of the section want to send their children to Buena Park schools.

The matter was postponed until November 21 at 10 a. m. after this had been recommended by County Superintendent of Schools Ray Adkinson.

A delegation headed by Claude Harlow, Midway City, asked the supervisors to include subdivisions in the county building code that is being drawn up so that shacks could not be erected near residential property with resultant lowering of property values. While the board took no action, members expressed approval of the plan to restrict erection of cheap buildings on residential property.

Mystery Surrounds Two Orange Thefts

Mystery still surrounds the entering and ransacking of two Orange homes recently, and police to date have not yet located the intruders who broke into the Emery White home, 356 North Shaffer street, Friday, and the Louis Koth home, 193 North Batavia, Saturday. Fay White, son of the White home, works in Anaheim, and the house has not been occupied, as his father is in the east. The Koths also were out of town, when their home was entered. A former story in the Register stated in error Mr. and Mrs. Fay White are unmarried.

LECTURE TONIGHT ON FAR EAST SITUATION

The far-eastern situation and its relation to United States and international peace will be discussed tonight at 7:30 in the People's Forum by Dr. Frederick W. Roman in his lecture, "An Interview with the Earl of Lytton."

The Earl of Lytton headed the League of Nations' Commission which examined into the controversy between the Chinese and Japanese over Manchuria.

"It was a rare pleasure to be informed on this vital Oriental problem at first hand by the Earl of Lytton with his broad background, scholarship, and sympathetic insight into the many elements involved," said Dr. Roman.

The lecture and the Current Events' hour which starts at 7:30 will be open to the public.

TELLS CAUSE OF 2 CENT CUT IN GAS PRICE

Invasion of a cheap motor fuel in Orange county which is said to be labeled "this is not gasoline" for the purpose of escaping price regulation, had caused prices in Santa Ana to drop. It was pointed out at a meeting of the Southern California Petroleum club, Orange county branch, last night in the gas company offices.

The downward revision of prices left third structure gasoline today with a price of 14.5 cents a gallon at independent stations and 15 cents a gallon at major oil company stations. Standard grades of gasoline have dropped from 20 cents to 17.5 cents a gallon, while ethyl prices were lowered to 19.5 from the former price of 21.5 cents.

M. R. Beatty, superintendent for Southern California for the Hyvis Oil company, was the featured speaker at the meeting last night. He described the attempts of the company selling cheap motor fuel to undersell regular gasoline. He said, however, that tests had proved the fuel under discussion was gasoline and that it would not be long before the company would be brought under regulation. When this is done, he predicted, prices again will rise to normal levels.

Another meeting of the club, proposed of service station proprietors in the county, will be held next Monday night at 7:30 o'clock in the gas company offices. More than 65 attended the meeting last night.

GROWERS SAY UNABLE TO PAY HIGHER WAGES

Japanese growers are unable at the present time to increase the pay of their Mexican workmen but if market conditions on next January 1 warrant, they will be glad to give consideration to the proposal at that time, it was declared at a meeting held in the Japanese school at Garden Grove last night.

Thomas Barker, deputy of the state labor commissioner's office, presided, explaining that a group of Mexican workmen had complained that while living costs had gone up, their earnings had not.

Twenty-five Japanese, representing the Santa Ana-Garden Grove Japanese Growers' association, Gardena Japanese Growers' association, Orange County Japanese Growers' association and the Smeltzer Japanese Growers' association, were present. R. D. Flaherty, secretary of the Orange County Farm bureau; E. E. Eastman, assistant farm advisor, and William Jerome, county supervisor, were present and spoke briefly, outlining present economic and agricultural conditions in Orange county. A representative of the Mexicans gave a short talk in which he stated that the Mexicans felt they were entitled to a pay increase since living expenses had gone up.

James K. Sasak, secretary of the Gardena organization, and S. Muraoka, secretary of the Santa Ana-Garden Grove group, stated that the Japanese are paying workmen $1.50 for a nine-hour day, with about 250 Mexicans employed in the districts represented. Sasak reported that truck farmers in the Gardena section had agreed to cut their acreage from 700 to 600 acres next season.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

-- News Behind The News --

WASHINGTON
By George Durne

DOLLARS
The financial geni of the Administration have been blowing hot and cold on the magic lamp of inflation and devaluation so long that it's a tough guess to predict what is going to pop out. All surface indications for some weeks past have pointed to a definite slant away from inflation in the popular sense of the word. Recent remarks dropped by the inner circle lead to the belief that President Roosevelt had taken a sharp turn to the right on the question of dollar devaluation.

Three weeks ago financial circles here counted on Mr. Roosevelt's arbitrarily setting the price of gold at $35 an ounce—either late this month or early in November. This would put your dollar at 65 cents—its present buying value.

Now devaluation may go over to 1934—as late as early spring—if then. Fear of what inflationists might jam through Congress in January may force the Administration's hand and force a move in late December.

If so, write it down that the White House was hurried.

POUNDS
This comes from men next to the works in the Treasury Department and the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. A day or two ago our strategists saw a chance to bring Great Britain into mutual monetary agreement. Since talking to members of the informal British debt mission they've decided London isn't ready for such accord. Our negotiators aimed to trade administration support of further war debt revision for an agreement pegging the dollar and pound. It didn't work. England decided not to pay much more anyway. We'd prefer not to go it alone.

PECORA
Ferdinand Pecora, promoting himself from Senate Banking Committee prosecutor to New York District Attorney on the McKee ticket, has worked out what he hopes will be a swell answer to critics who charge him with this. Joseph V. McKee, heading the Manhattan ticket, has important Wall Street backing. The House of Morgan is mentioned most frequently. Ergo, says the opposition, Pecora's job from now on will be to soft-pedal on the monetary interests.

Pecora is set to come back with a fiery eye on Chase National and the Stock Exchange as soon as the hearings resume.

For ten days the Italian prosecutor has had ace investigators in New York digging up the final dirt on Albert H. Wiggin, former chairman of the board of Chase National, and on Exchange operations.

Richard Whitney, president of the Exchange, will be called again after testifying once before. This time he'll be handled without gloves.

Backers of Pecora are taking pains to point out that Whitney's brother, George, is one of the chief Morgan partners.

POLITICS
Pecora's questions in this wind-up of the investigation may serve as his campaign speeches for the district attorneyship as he said he would not stump New York City.

When a group demurring at this called on Senator Couzens of Michigan, member of the Committee, they got exactly nowhere. Couzens told them it was an old political custom for a man to grab onto a reform movement and ride it hard enough to put himself in the public eye. Congressmen who want to be Senators and Senators who want to be President have been doing it for years, he said. He saw generally beneficial results aside from their own ambitions, too.

The Senator even allowed he'd do it himself if he could get any higher. (He is a Canadian by birth.)

STAR DUST
When President Roosevelt complained about the terrific salaries being paid "immature persons" in the movie industry he wasn't talking about juvenile actors and actresses.

One word was implied. He meant "mentally immature."

The remark stirred up a hornet's nest.

General Johnson and his NRA Deputy, Sol Rosenblatt, in charge of the movie code, are in somewhat of a quandary over the whole business.

Some of the brightest film stars draw down two to four times the pay of the President of the United States even though they have to be told to come in out of the rain.

On the other hand NRA realizes they are such tremendous box office attractions they more than earn their salaries for their employers.

SOUR
Tied with this is the producers' wall that they spend fortunes bringing unknowns to the top by exploitation only to have "vice string" rivals steal them when contracts die by boosting the ante skyward.

And the further thought in high official circles here that some of the movie executives themselves are drawing down wages beyond all sober reason.

Our New Dealers are irked when such executives in bankrupt concerns cut themselves fabulous slices of cake when the public has dropped millions in their sour stock.

Johnson frankly is dubious about trying to set up any salary-adjusting committee. As a lawyer he questions whether the law contemplates such a step.

It has been hinted to him that a commission might adjust salaries in special cases. This, it was argued, would not mean maximum pay by Federal edict.

The General didn't seem to warm up to the idea.

NOTES

Utah, voting on prohibition repeal on November 7, may be the first state to go dry, according to veteran political observers from that section. . . . A strong element in the Mormon Church is campaigning effectively in the cow counties. . . . Dependent on what Salt Lake City and Ogden do the outcome will be close. . . . Dope seized by the Narcotics Bureau, if found to be real stuff, is distributed among hospitals and also given to the Army. . . . When the Army moves it express and armed guards operate as with a consignment of gold.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

REFUNDING
The government's decision to call one-third of the Fourth Liberties had conservative Wall Street singing hallelujah.

Most of the boys figured it meant the threat of currency inflation was over. The wisest insiders are not so exuberant. You can't fool with the dollar while conversion is under way, so inflation is off for a while. But there's nothing in the book forbidding devaluation or print-money when the conversion party is over.

The conversion operation looks to be a whopping success. Word has been skillfully passed that those who wait won't get such favorable terms and the line (of big bondholding institutions) is forming on the right.

At the same time the feature of an added cash sale for the new issue is a neat way of raising half a billion for RFC and other purposes without raising eyebrows.

Wall Street says these Treasury boys are good.

DOLLAR

When Britain pulled her conversion stunt the pound went down the chutes of foreign exchange because foreign holders of the original issue hurried to cash in. The new issue had none but patriotic attractions. That won't happen to the liberties. Very few of them are held abroad and experts rate the new offering an attractive investment. If anything the dollar should go up.

LID

Britain also had to clamp down the lid on other long term capital issues while conversion was going on to put it across without competition. Wall Street says that isn't necessary here. The Securities Act has done the clamping already.

RAILS

John Barriger's effort to raise the ghost of the Prince Railway Consolidation plan by urging the Pennsylvania-Baltimore & Ohio merger will turn out to be another spirit picture. Baltimore & Ohio's objection to being swallowed whole will be fluently backed by most of the leading railroads if the threat grows serious. But the inside evidence is that Co-ordinator Eastman is simply being polite in listening to Pennsylvania's side of the case.

GAINS

Figures recently published gave the impression that employment and payrolls were gaining faster in the capital goods industries than among manufacturers of consumers' goods. That is true so far as percentage gains from March through August, 1933, were concerned but the impression it gives is misleading.

Compared to 1929 employment you get a different story. On that base consumers' goods employment has gained nearly 12 per cent and capital goods 9 1-2 per cent.

The difference in the actual number of employed is even more impressive. From March to September in consumer industries it amounted to 1,121,000, bringing the total to 7,745,000 as against a peak of nine and one-half million. In capital industries re-employment was only 266,000 in the same period for a total of 1,169,000 as against a peak of nearly 3,000,000.

All of it emphasizing once more the need to fatten the heavy industries if employment is to balance.

RAKE-OFF

The insurance racket has always been one of Tammany's softest touches. If you put up a building, department permits for changes in design might be interminably held up unless you took out a completion bond with a Tammany insurance agent. Many things like that. The last couple of years these pickings have fallen off badly and there has been hot and heavy competition for insurance business within the ranks of the faithful.

It happens that Boss Curry's insurance affiliations have got both the cream and most of the milk of what insurance has been written lately. That's the reason why some of the boys flock to McKee.

SMITH

Both Tammany and McKee backers are working hard for a pat on the back from Al Smith. Even though his intimate associate, Charles Hand, is for McKee, Al's friends insist his real sentiments are "a plague on both your houses." The inside dope is that his contribution will be a single speech in favor of party loyalty.

Register's Fall Cooking School To Open Tomorrow

CLASSES WILL TAKE UP MANY OLD PROBLEMS

When Miss Louise Lane, expert home economist, conducts the Register's big, free cooking school, she will have with her a multitude of helpful suggestions and hints in her "Happy Kitchen" program. This program will cover every phase of kitchen problems and the Register is proud to be able to present to the housewives of this city such a recognized authority on cookery as Miss Lane. Every housewife will want to hear this ingenious culinary artist in her four interesting sessions. This will be no exposition of showy party dishes—the kind that you serve to company only; but there will be actual demonstrations of the proper methods for cooking roasts, pies, steaks, cakes, the preparation of salads, new breakfast dishes, hints on entertaining, suggestions to help make cooking more fun so that every housewife may have a "Happy Kitchen."

"Salads for special occasions" will be two of the interesting subjects which Miss Lane will cover in her cooking school program. This recognized cooking expert says, "Salads play an ever increasing part in the life of the kitchen. Grandmother used to serve her flock with potatoes and beef and bread and coffee and big pieces of pie.

"Daughter began varying the meals and making them a little smaller; salads took a place as a real member of the dietetic family. Nowadays, granddaughter has a salad with almost every meal except breakfast.

"Some salads make up a whole luncheon, and many salads take the double role of salad and dessert, at dinner. At any rate, the salad is here in numbers, and the real home-maker must know how to use it! I like to label this knowledge "salad sense"—the ability to provide a number of salads for every occasion, and the knack of fixing a suitable dressing for every salad.

"Today's hostess must know the correct salad for every meal and every occasion—and which dressing is most appropriate. No one dressing should be used on all salads."

Miss Lane says that the knowledge of what salad to serve and what dressing to serve with it, is very easy to acquire. It is just as simple to prepare the correct salad and dressing, as it is to prepare the incorrect one.

These are just a few of the ideas that housewives will find at the Register's cooking school. Miss Lane has made an enviable reputation for herself and talks to tens of thousands of housewives annually in scores of western towns. She will conduct three sessions, 10 a.m. to 12 noon each day, in the West Coast theater. Plan to be there every day!

FISH IN YARD AFTER STORM

BATTLE CREEK, Mich.—(UP)—A sucker chub, six inches long, was found in a yard here after a heavy storm, apparently killed by hail. Although the yard is far from any body of water, there was no evidence that the fish was brought there by a cat or dropped by fishermen.

NOTED HOME ECONOMIST TO CONDUCT SCHOOL

Miss Louise Lane, home economist, who will conduct the Register's annual fall cooking school at the West Coast theater, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week. Miss Lane arrived in Santa Ana yesterday and was confident that the school this year will excel all others ever held here.

DESIGN BRINGS LONG LIFE TO KELVINATORS

The efficiency of an electric refrigerator depends upon the speed with which its condensing unit is relieved of the heat it has collected. Rapid elimination of this heat adds years of life to the refrigerator and reduces its operating cost.

Heat is eliminated more rapidly if the condensing unit is in a cool place. Since heat rises, the coolest part of a room is near the floor. So Kelvinator, for years, has installed the condensing unit below the cabinet.

At the top of the cabinet, the temperature is 10 degrees higher than that at the bottom where Kelvinator's condensing unit is located. To increase the efficiency still more, every Kelvinator, regardless of price, has a motor-driven fan which revolves 1750 times a minute...blowing away the heat as fast as it is collected by the condensing unit.

As a result, the temperature in the condensing unit compartment is never more than seven and a half degrees higher than that in the coolest part of the room. And then a thick layer of insulation protects the food compartment from this heat.

This design also makes it possible to have a refrigerator with sealed parts which are also accessible for adjustments in the home without removing the mechanical unit.

The J. C. Horton company, one of the co-sponsors of the school will furnish Kelvinator refrigeration.

Famous Recipes To Be Demonstrated By Miss Lane

HOLLY SUGAR WILL BE USED DURING SCHOOL

W. D. Baker, manager of the Holly Sugar Corporation announced today that arrangements have been made with Miss Louise Lane, home economist, who will conduct the Register Cooking School this Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at the West Coast theater, for the exclusive use of Holly Sugar during these demonstrations.

Miss Lane's scientific knowledge of culinary arts qualifies her to endorse this local sugar. Her research work in the field of cooking where sugar plays such an important part is well known to thousands of housewives in Southern California. If there are any doubters as to the real merit of this sugar it soon will be dispelled after watching Miss Lane demonstrate how Holly Beet sugar can be successfully used in the very finest baking at home. "There should be no prejudice in the use of sugar. The old prejudice against beet sugar has been destroyed and today the housewife who is really interested in setting a better table is becoming a booster for Holly Beet sugar," said Miss Louise Lane, the well known home economist.

The Register Cooking School is an established institution and every year thousands of women from all over Orange county are given culinary information that makes for better and finer cooking.

"HAD CONSTIPATION SINCE BIRTH OF MY FIRST CHILD"

Then Mrs. King Discovered ALL-BRAN

We quote from her voluntary letter:

"I have suffered from terrible constipation since the birth of my first child—9 years ago! I have tried everything and nothing had any lasting results. Very reluctantly I tried your 'ALL-BRAN' with no faith in it at all. Much to my surprise, I have not had to take any medicine since starting to use ALL-BRAN, 4 months ago."—Mrs. Doris Eyrre King, 16 Abbey Road, Oxford, England.

Laboratory tests show ALL-BRAN contains two things which overcome constipation: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Certainly this is more natural than taking patent medicines—often harmful. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood. At all grocers. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

LESS CURRENT IS NEEDED FOR KELVINATORS

Electric refrigerators produce dry, cold air. This is done by freezing the food compartment moisture on the cooling unit. But occasionally the frost has to be removed from the cooling unit so that the heat from the food can be carried away efficiently.

In other refrigerators the frost on the cooling unit is melted by shutting off the power so that the food compartment temperature will rise. This not only endangers the foods, but also causes ice cubes and desserts to melt. And then, when the cooling unit has been defrosted, the mechanism has to be run a long time to reduce the food compartment temperature.

Kelvinator's KeepCold Defroster eliminates this waste. During the defrosting period, Kelvinator maintains food preservation temperatures, and retains ice cubes. This is a distinctive economy. And if the user is to be away over the week-end, Kelvinator will operate economically on the defrosting cycle...at the same time protecting foods left in the cabinet.

Kelvinator uses every bit of refrigeration produced by avoiding the waste which necessarily occurs when the food compartment must be heated to melt frost from the cooling unit.

Continuous maintenance of preservation temperatures and ice cubes...more frequent defrosting save many dollars a year.

J. C. Horton Furniture company will furnish Kelvinator refrigeration at the cooking school.

Tustin Center To Meet Wednesday

TUSTIN, Oct. 17.—The annual meeting of the Tustin Farm center will be held Wednesday evening in the Knights of Pythias hall. President S. W. Stanley announced today. Pythian Sisters will serve a dinner at 6:30 o'clock. The program is as follows: Mrs. J. D. Campbell, Tustin, "Relation of the Sales Tax to School Affairs"; James A. Smiley, "The New Walnut Code"; J. C. Lamb, county tax collector, "Your 1933-34 Tax Bill"; H. E. Wahlberg, Agriculture Extension Service, "Fall Fertilization of Citrus"; F. B. Browning, "Director's Report on Farm Bureau Activities"; report of nominating committee.

All persons interested in farm center and farm bureau activities are especially urged to attend this annual meeting.

FIRST DAY'S MENU FOR COOKING SCHOOL

Add cooked macaroni to ham, with remainder of milk. Cover with cheese and return to oven until cheese is melted and sauce bubbles. (As a suggestion—serve with mustard pickles.)

WIESSEMAN TO FURNISH ALL KITCHENWARES

Miss Louise Lane believes that one of the first requisites of good cooking is to have proper and sufficient kitchen equipment at one's finger tips. There is no greater incentive than to have a sufficient supply of modern, time-saving cooking utensils. Wiesseman's popular houseware store, at 114 West Fourth has been chosen by Miss Lane to furnish all the necessary equipment of the "hot and pan" variety as well as the more modern mechanical and electrical devices to be used in the cooking school. Also special attention will be given to the developing new, novel and practical ideas in table settings using Wiesseman china, glassware and silverware. One of the prizes to be awarded at the Cooking School will be a National Pressure Cooker which is recognized as almost a kitchen necessity. All women are invited to inspect these cookware at the Cooking School and also to take advantage of a special factory demonstration at Wiesseman's Store, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The Register Cooking School will be held in the West Coast Theater Oct. 18, 19 and 20.

Cook with CRISCO—it digests quickly

Anne, why'd you buy Crisco? I have plenty of my shortening on hand.

Oh, Mother, I want to make rhubarb pie for Dad tonight—he loves it!

MOTHER SCOLDS ANNE

You know your father has indigestion when he eats pie.

But, Mother, the shortening may be the trouble. In cooking class today, Miss Abbott told us Crisco is often used in diets because it's so wholesome.

Take this, John—you'll need it to settle your stomach after eating so much pie.

Mother, I told you! Dad can eat Crisco pie—crust. Crisco is a quick-digesting fat!

No, ma'am, I haven't had a bit of trouble.

DAD SAYS ANNE'S RIGHT!

YANKEE HASH
8 tablespoons Crisco
2 tablespoons chopped onion
2 cup milk or water
2 cups chopped corned beef (cooked)
2 cups cubed boiled potatoes

Melt Crisco in frying pan. Add onion. Brown slightly. (Crisco is a digestible frying fat.) Mix other ingredients. Add to onions. Mix thoroughly. Then spread out evenly. Cook slowly. As bottom browns, keep lifting and cutting it in, so that crusty bits are worked through hash. Just before removing from skillet, fold hash over like an omelet. Serve with—

Fried Apple Rings: Select 2 or 3 large perfect cooking apples. Cut into 1/2 inch slices. Core. Melt 3 tablespoons Crisco in skillet. When hot, add apple rings. Fry on both sides until nicely browned. Sprinkle with powdered sugar. Fill centers with jelly.

Crisco is the registered trademark of a shortening manufactured by the Procter & Gamble Co.

digests quickly

You don't need to take the joy out of eating in order to protect your digestion. You can gladly say "yes" to wholesome Crisco pies and crispy Crisco-fried foods! Yes, they can be good for you—because Crisco is the digestible vegetable shortening that doesn't over-burden your stomach.

Most every day something is fried in your house. Is it grease-soaked and hard to digest—or is it brown and crispy the way Crisco-fried foods are? Crisco can be heated higher—so it seals food quickly in toasty brown—which prevents fat from soaking into the food. That's why Crisco-fried foods digest quickly!

But let your common sense tell you. Look at Crisco—see how it piles up like thick country cream on a spoon! Taste its sweetness. Why, there's nothing like Crisco, because Crisco is made from digestible vegetable oils by its own secret process!

When you buy Crisco, look for the familiar blue-and-white label. Crisco's vacuum-sealed can is a health-protection to you.

NELLY DON FROCKS TO BE GIVEN AWAY AT COOKING SCHOOL

Miss Louise Lane, in charge of the Register Cooking School personally selected Nelly Don Frocks at Rankin's to be given away during the three important days. Rankin's were proud to note her enthusiasm over the smart styles, the carefully selected materials and the many other important features. Miss Lane says that Nelly Don Frocks are important in her work—because being "fresh as a daisy" give one such a grand feeling; particularly when working out the problems that come up in a kitchen. Being made of better materials and generous seams Nelly Don Frocks take kindly to water. Rankin's are proud to offer these fine frocks in connection with the Register's Cooking School.

ONION SALT IS NEEDY ARTICLE FOR POTATOES

"Onion salt in the scalloped potatoes gives them a tricky flavor and paprika is the handy help of every salad."

"Salad dressings call for spice without end. And consider the range of cinnamon rolls and hot breads, together with the savories of sauces—what an inspiration is the spice box!"

"What a difference in the intrigue of a meal if the spaghetti has a bit of garlic salt and a sprinkle of clove stirred in with its other seasonings."

Miss Lane invites Santa Ana housewives to bring their kitchen problems to the cooking school to have them all ironed out. Perhaps it is a problem of budgeting, or keeping cakes from falling, or putting up the children's lunches, or shopping for the emergency shelf—no matter what the particular problem, Miss Lane wants to help solve it and smooth out the way for more "Happy Kitchens."

There will be instruction and entertainment at the cooking school, and a lot of free prizes. You will want to be sure and attend each of the three sessions.

In a product that is unequalled. The modern Wedgewood Gas Range, made especially for Pacific Coast conditions, has outstanding beauty, extraordinary conveniences and unrivalled quality. Never has a gas range of such advanced design and practical features been offered to the housewife. Its fuel economy has made gas unquestionably the greatest and least expensive servant in the home. Lifetime beauty and service are built into every modern Wedgewood—even the smallest detail is made the best it can be. If you want a range that will outperform anything you've ever used, be sure you buy a Wedgewood.

Miss Louise Lane, home economist, who will be in charge of the school, will cook all her meals and bake all her pastries on the Wedgewood.

MISS LANE SELECTS LINENS AT RANKINS

Miss Lane in choosing the linens for her demonstrations at the West Coast theater tomorrow was agreeably surprised at the completeness of Rankin's Linen section. The wide variety of beautiful linens from all over the world, showing the newest trend in color, embroidery and richly textured linens and damasks, Miss Lane also exclaimed over the exceptional values offered. These fine linens will be on display in the foyer of the theater each day during The Register Cooking School.

KELVATEX ADDS TO ECONOMY OF KELVINATORS

Good insulation helps to keep out the heat, helps to keep in the cold. And because of this, less operation is required of the mechanism, using less power, reducing the wear of parts.

Insulation cannot be seen; and so it is easily cheapened at the expense of the user whose power bills are often unnecessarily increased from $1.50 to $2.50 a month.

Kelvatex, the Kelvinator insulation, is the most efficient obtainable. It is made of glossy, heat reflecting, cross-corrugated fibre layers, which contain millions of dead-air cells.

Much of the room's heat is thrown back by the mirrored surfaces; most of the rest is barred from the food compartment by the dead-air cells.

The glossy, fiber layers themselves, are bound together in slabs and sealed in a water-proof jacket... as resistant to water as a rubber boot. This is important because moist insulation breaks down, and moisture, itself, conducts heat.

There are no seams in Kelvatex; each slab is tailor-made for the cabinet in which it is used. And each slab is permanently sealed into the cabinet structure to prevent every possibility of shifting or sagging.

A RED-LETTER day in cooking is just around the corner. It's a day which will loom large in your memory for weeks afterward. For it marks the opening of this newspaper's annual FREE Cooking School—the "Kitchen Chautauqua."

We have planned these programs for months—getting seats ready, making arrangements to get together the best foodstuffs and home appliances, ironing out all the detail problems which crop up in arranging a truly great and truly memorable home exposition such as the Kitchen Chautauqua is to be.

A home economist who has talked before thousands of housewives, throughout the country, will be in direct charge of all the programs. She is noted for her practical knowledge of the art of cookery, the frills and furbelows as well as everyday roast beef and potatoes. The cooking school won't have a bit of formality in it—you can ask all the questions you want, and the home economist has a world of experience with which to answer them. You'll see all your friends and neighbors there, and we want you to come, too. We invite you to make this YOUR cooking school—and don't miss a single fascinating minute of it.

Remember—the doors open an hour before the Kitchen Chautauqua gets under way—come early and bring paper and pencil!

Jack Johnson Says Fitzsimmons Was Greatest Fighter
KERR TO COACH NEW YORK U.?

BY HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(UP)—Professional football caught on so fast in Pittsburgh that after three National league games the team is assured of a profit for the season . . . Fitzsimmons was far and away the greatest heavyweight who ever lived, according to Jack Johnson, who wasn't a bad one himself . . . Leo Curley, 200-pound Georgetown tackle, is a son of Boston's mayor . . . Up-state reports have Andy Kerr of Colgate coaching at N. Y. U. next year . . . Milt Singer, end, and Walter Singer, center, brothers on the Syracuse varsity, are as alike as their best friends can't tell them apart . . .

Harry Newman's teammates on the New York Giants pro team will tell you Harry is a better passer than Benny Friedman ever was . . . Which, if true, means he's the greatest football thrower the game ever saw . . . "Tiny" Thornhill, Stanford coach, gives the weather credit for far-western football supremacy . . . Alabama has a football tradition that if President Denny is knocked down during a workout, the team will win the following game . . . The whole squad plans to hit the prexy before the Tide entrains for Fordham . . . Ohio State's eleven has an official entertainer, Coach Sam Williamson having engaged one Kenneth Rasmussen, piano playing sophomore, to accompany the team on all trips . . . Sam says Kenneth's funny music inspires his team . . .

A Philadelphia pro team offered Warren Heller, Pittsburgh's all-America back of last year, $250 a game, but Warren turned it down to coach a high school eleven in Johnstown, Pa. . . Mike Pecore, head coach at Gonnaga, used to be the heavy villain in a coast dramatic stock company . . . Milt Bruhn, Minnesota guard, is working through college as a blacksmith . . . Very few of the boys care to get rough with him.

Lou Little, Columbia coach, confessed that he juggled the time on the football game between the professional Giants and Notre Dame all-stars a few years back . . . Lou, who was timekeeper, cut the first three periods because Layden and Crowley and Walsh were taking such a bad beating, but stretched the final one when the Four Horsemen got the ball in enemy territory, just to see what the famed quartet could do . . . "Lone Star" Dietz, one of "Pop" Warner's most illustrious football students, is now coaching the Boston Redskins and the Warner double wingback attack is raising plenty of trouble in Eastern pro ranks . . . World series players won't get their bonus checks until this week because Commissioner M. Sinal Landis hasn't returned to his office to check the division of spoils . . .

GRIFFITH GRIEVES AGAIN

This is going to be the winter of Clark Griffith's discontent. The owner of the Senators not only has lost a world series, but his pals have gone back on him as well.

Griff is in a horrible dilemma. He is crying without knowing just exactly what it is that grieves him most.

His pals, designated here as those fans who have supported him in fairly comfortable circumstances for many years by kicking in their half buck every few days, did not riot for the privilege of laying $3.30 on the line for the same remote pews during the lamented baseball tournament that recently ended.

A COSTLY RESENT

Now Griff is sorry. He is sorry he tried to charge them $3.30 because he has discovered that $3.30 was more than they would pay, even under the good old NRA banner, and all that. He is sorry that he wanted to make them pay that and that they deserted him by refusal to spring with the required amount. Are we explicit?

"We made a mistake," says Griffith in expression of his great grief. We charged too much for seats in this series and the fans here in Washington resent it. They'll hold it against me for a long time. Yes, we made a grievous mistake and I'm truly sorry. I feel it deep down in my heart."

AN ANCIENT WOE

Griff's remorse probably is a two-edged blade which is a very cutting remorse. As the Old Fox ruminates on his mistake during the winter, and wonders if Joe Cronin can bring him another profitable pennant winner, perhaps he can look back a year to the day when he dismissed Walter Johnson after years of good and faithful service.

Griff at that time was grieving about the terribly high salaries ball players had been getting for a couple of hours' work of an afternoon. He was trying to organize a crusade of grievers. He cut his own payroll to the marrow and tearfully parted with Walter Johnson's association because the Big Train was too high priced a manager to be sitting on the bench.

Griff could grieve less at that time, perhaps, by having a manager who not only was directing the team but taking a place among the nine out there on the field. The Old Fox grieves both ways. It's excruciating.

EXPERTS? HAW!

The victory of the Giants over the Senators in five games brings to mind that this is going to be a sad year for the experts. I even

Play Saint-San Diego Game At Bowl

INJURIES KEEP UNDERWOOD AND RIVEROLL OUT

Arrangements were completed today whereby the Santa Ana-San Diego high school football game will be moved into the Municipal Bowl Saturday to accommodate what is expected to be the largest crowd of Santa Ana's 1933 season.

The city board of education, which previously refused the Saints permission to play within the Flower street stadium because of its attitude on night football, agreed informally to waive the prohibitory regulation since the contest will be held at 2:30 in the afternoon. It is understood the city will exact the customary 10 per cent of the gross receipts for rental, with the proviso that its share will not run more than $100, regardless of the total intake. School officials believe the Saint-Hiller tradition struggle will do big business at the apocryphal Bowl, which seats about 8000. Santa Ana junior college has grossed approximately $1400 for three non-toural games.

Admission prices Saturday will run from 25 cents for school children to 55 cents for the choice reserved seats, general admission being 40 cents. Tickets for the reserved sections go on sale tomorrow at Victor Walker's sporting goods store. Santa Ana fans will sit on the west side of the field. San Diego will have the east side.

Neither Captain Ford Underwood of Santa Ana nor Jim Riveroll of San Diego, probably the two best guards in the Coast Preparatory league, will be able to play in the Saint-Hiller contest Saturday.

Underwood's right ankle was badly sprained at Pasadena last week and he may not be able to return to the Saint lineup until the Glendale game here Nov. 4. He is definitely out of this week's game. Riveroll's elbow was dislocated in the San Diego-Alhambra battle. He will be out of action indefinitely.

Roland Williams, tackle, the other Bruin mentor, indicated that he will start the same lineup against the Lions as started in the Stanford and Utah games.

PULLMAN, Wash.—Washington State coaches bore down hard on their charges today in preparations for the invasion of California's Golden Bears Saturday.

LOS ANGELES—The U. S. C. training field was one of limps and hobbles today. Bob Erskine, star tackle, nursed an injured knee. Capt. Ford Palmer, a wrenched foot. Julie Bescoe, end, a lame back; and Homer Griffith, hero of the Trojans' victory over St. Mary's, a leg bruise. All with the exception of Erskine were expected to break into the Oregon State game Saturday at Portland.

LOS ANGELES—The U. C. L. A. Bruins began polishing up exercises today for their clash with Loyola Saturday. Coach Bill Spaulding pulled a halt in scrimmages to avoid injuries. The Bruin mentor indicated he will start the same lineup against the Lions as started in the Stanford and Utah games.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 17.—Bruin of Westwood will hibernate earlier this winter than last—November 30 to be exact—but in the interim, the Westwood Cub will be the victim of seven straight assaults on its gridiron escutcheon, every one a major battle.

Saturday, Loyola's Lions come in from their beach retreat to be thrust into the pit with Bruin, said pit of course being the Los Angeles Coliseum. Seven days from the Loyola fracas, U. C. L. A. takes on Oregon, conqueror once again of Phelan's pack of Huskies. Then in weekly sequence the Bruins meet California, San Diego Marines, the Devildogs who performed the major operation on "Clipper" Smith's Santa Clara Broncos, Washington, St. Mary's, and Washington State.

BERKELEY—Coach Bill Ingram drilled a new left halfback today to replace his injured star, Floyd Blower. The replacement was Phil Klein, being 40 cents. PALO ALTO—The Stanford Indians were expected back from Chicago today. Practice sessions will start tomorrow for Saturday's game against U. S. E. at San Francisco.

MORAGA—The St. Mary's football team began work today to rest on their charges today in preparations for the invasion of California's Golden Bears Saturday.

EUGENE, Ore.—Oregon came through the grueling battle with Washington State with only two casualties. It was revealed as practice was resumed for Friday's clash with Idaho, Mark Temple, halfback, had a facial laceration and Bern Hughes, center, a broken thumb.

CORVALLIS, Ore.—Oregon State's chances against U. S. C. at Portland Saturday appeared today to rest on Norman ("Red") Franklin, the halfback who featured the U. S. F. victory over St. Mary's, a leg bruise. All with the exception of Erskine were expected to break into the Oregon State game Saturday at Portland.

EASTERN HORSE 'HOPPING' DONE OPENLY, CLAIM

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
(I. N. S. Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(INS)—Out of eight horses running in the average race on some of the Eastern tracks, not more than three are "trying."

This is only one of many statements vouchsafed today during an inquiry by the writer into the race track situation, the testimony being that of men who are in a position both to know what they say and to say what they think. The above statement, for instance, doesn't in the least mean that the three horses in question are honest horses, honestly trained. It means that, for purposes of that particular race, they are "hopped" or "needled." They are what is known as "not" horses. They have been given the gun.

Jockey's Skill Devaluated
The other five horses, hop-heads themselves, have been denied their "inspiration" for the day and so are "cold" horses. They cannot win. In fact, they won't.

In other words, the strong-armed jockey, it seems, has been completely supplanted in racing by the deft-fingered trainer and, in the same way, we no longer have the jockey who is riding to win—or lost. Instead, we have the "hot" horse and the "cold" horse. Not every trainer, of course, uses the needle. But not every trainer is working for the Whiteside or Widener or the Greenleafs and so "hopping" they say, is pretty general, even stake horses not being immune.

They start them on the dope as the mother weans her baby on the bottle, two-year-olds being fed the stuff in ever-increasing doses until he becomes an addict. Once accustomed to his shot, a horse, they claim, just won't run without it, with the result that matters thus are greatly simplified for the fixers and trainers. When they are running to win, they hop their horse. When they aren't, they don't.

Government Disinterested

It has been so easy that some of the more notorious characters are said to be operating openly around New York tracks, now that the government has failed to follow up some of its earlier inquiries. Another thing that has aided the illegal operator is that most of the good horses have been shipped to Maryland, with the result that even a legitimate race is difficult to call in advance.

As for the illegitimate race, it is supposed to have become so easy as to be almost comic. Spousing is rare. It's unreliable. Spousing is dangerous and, besides, a horse can be needed in ways that are both discreet and effective.

This almost never fails but, in case it does, there are always those serious "instructions" to the riders, in case you are very sure that you do not want your own horse to win that day but are strictly in favor of the "hot" horse from the rival stable. These instructions are simplicity itself. If your horse can only run in front, you tell the rider to take him back. If he doesn't like the rail, you tell the boy to take him over at the first opportunity. If he quits under interference, it is not difficult to arrange a little crowding at the first turn.

DONS PREPARE FOR FIRST OF LEAGUE GAMES

Undefeated after four non-conference struggles, Santa Ana's three-tyed Dons buckled down to hard football drill today in preparation for their first league game at Pomona junior college Saturday afternoon.

Riverside's 27-0 victory over Pomona, which Bill Cook feared would cause his Santa Ana team to "let down" in practice this week, had no effect on the Dons in drill yesterday. In preparing for victory they apparently realize that upsets are possible, and highly probable when the opponent is L. H. Van Cleave's Cosacks.

Pomona boasts two of the league's most dangerous backs in Creel Leman, prep halfback sensation from the Citrus Belt league; and Troy Porterfield, one of the high ranking prep quarterbacks of the Southland last fall. Against LaVerne college recently these two high school transfers starred while Pomona ran up a total of 232 yards from scrimmage in 49 plays for an average of 4.7 yards per try. Leman, whose long runs enabled him to build an individual average of 12 yards a try, was the offensive star of the scrimmage, with Porterfield not far behind him.

The Cosacks are blessed with a strong defensive machine, as evidenced by their showing against Riverside. After the Bengals had run back the kickoff for a touchdown, they had to fight hard for every inch they made through the Pomona line, which was decisively outweighed by the Riverside Giants. Instead of breaking down in the second half, Pomona improved its defense. Lack of offensive drive is apparent in the Pomona team, although the Cosacks have a smooth passing attack which may trouble the Dons.

Charles ("Tex") Bowden having withdrawn from the Don roster, and thereby breaking up one of Santa Ana's two backfield combinations, Coach Cook must do some shifting this week. He likes Harold Walty at quarter, "Porky" Bell and Clair Preininger at half, and Wilburn Anderson at full-back, and proposes to switch Bell to quarter and Anderson to right half when Harry McInteer and Bob Mitchell enter the game at their respective left half and full-back positions. Ray Haves, with lots of speed and drive, will remain at safety with Walty. "Red" McDaniel, another quarter, did most of the work in drill yesterday, with Bell calling signals.

The Santa Ana line that operated against the U. C. L. A. freed men here Friday probably will start against the Cosacks, Cook indicated. Paul Perinich and Ben Slavin, ends; Miles Norton and Capt. "Bomo" Koral, tackles; Ray Nowotny and Loren Lukens, guards; and Ray Hoar, center, have been selected as temporary forwards for the Pomona joust. Hoar has a charley-horse and may be replaced by Bruce Handy, a fine defensive center.

WHO'S THE NEW COACH?

STANFORD'S THORNHILL
Stanford followers may think the Indians are playing Thornhill football this year . . . but they're still playing Warner football . . . "Tiny," the new coach, is a protégé of the old "Pop" . . . having followed him since he played for the old master at Pitt . . . where he was equally good at tackle or full-back . . . and was such a ball hawk that a major league team offered him an outfield job . . . "Tiny" is just what Thornhill isn't . . . The new Stanford mentor, elected after Warner was hired by Temple last year, is plenty big . . . as the boys in professional football can tell you . . . He coached at Centre college for two years . . . before he signed at Stanford under Pop . . . Ten years under the "Old Fox" drilled the Warner system into his dome so deeply that it probably never will find its way out . . . so the boys who trained last year under Warner will be right at home with "Tiny" . . . He is extremely popular with the boys—every member of the squad voted for him as head coach when "Pop" moved east . . . Tiny carries 255 pounds of good nature and smile around with him . . . and that's probably why the boys go for him . . . Thornhill's light has remained hidden under Warner's basket for 10 years . . . but this year that skill with which he built up a Centre line that licked Harvard will have full sway to make things tough for Howard Jones and the rest of the Pacific coast teams . . . Tiny started out to be a head man of the grid squad of one of the biggest institutions of the country . . . Perhaps Thornhill, with the aid of All-American Ernie Nevers, will be able to bring Stanford back to the front of Pacific coast football.

YANK MANAGER MUM ON FATE OF BABE RUTH

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 17.—(UP)—There may be a few new faces in the New York Yankee lineup next season, but for the most part the club will be made up of those players who finished behind the Senators in the 1933 American League race, Joe McCarthy, manager, who is spending the winter in Buffalo, told the United Press today.

"I expect to do a little analyzing, and have some great prospects to look over, but as for tearing down my ball club and rebuilding, that's a lot of bunk," McCarthy said.

"Why, the figures will show you that the Yanks played the best ball in either league in the last four weeks, and that with Dickey and Lazzari out of the game. That sort of performance doesn't indicate that the outfit needs any rebuilding."

Silent On Ruth, McCarthy had nothing to say, but he indicated that he was counting strongly on "Dixie" Walker in next season's plans, either in Earle Combs' place in center field or the right field post of Ruth.

He blamed the failure of the Yankees in the 1933 race on the pitching staff. "Johnny Allen was a little in strength, and Ruffing didn't perform up to last year," he said. "But we played good enough baseball to win 91 games. That's pretty near winning a game, but the Senators were able to do just a little better."

Rookies To Get Tryout
The Yankee plot indicated he would give Jack Saltzgraver and "Red" Rolfe, third baseman and shortstop, respectively, of Newark, a thorough tryout next spring. But he reiterated his belief that Frank Corsetti would turn out to be one of the best shortstops in the majors.

When asked if he believed with so many baseball writers and so-called experts that two quite ordinary ball clubs won the championships of their respective leagues, McCarthy said: "Emphatically not. The Senators were not an ordinary ball club. They beat every club in the American league, and did it well. The Giants went along knocking over opposition with regularity, despite the fact the experts were predicting they would blow up. Anyone who believes these two ball clubs were just ordinary does not know his ratings."

MAJOR LEAGUES TO BEGIN WEEK LATER

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—(INS)Major league baseball will be delayed one week in opening for the 1934 season to escape some of the bad weather. It was announced today by President William Harridge of the American league.

Representatives of the National and American leagues arrived at the decision to shorten the season at a secret meeting held during the last week of business, Harridge said.

The usual 154-game schedule will prevail in 1934, the season opening April 17 and closing Sept. 30. The agreement represented a compromise between National league officials who favored going ahead as in other years and American league moguls favoring an April 24 opening. Most National league officials proposed a 166-game program.

Harridge said the actual drafting of the 1934 schedules will not be made until Pennsylvania votes next month on "blue laws" prohibiting Sunday baseball.

No action was taken on the proposal to reserve one month of the season for games between teams of the two circuits.

Boost Chest Total To $15,200

LINCOLN ONLY SCHOOL TO MEET ASSIGNED QUOTA

Community Chest pledges this morning mounted to $15,200 as the virtual complete report of the Santa Ana city schools came to Chest headquarters showing $2,574.15 contributed to date by teachers and personnel of the city school system. Frank A. Henderson, city superintendent of schools, was chairman of the division.

"While the Schools division has not reached its quota for the campaign, the addition to the Chest total has been substantial and indicates a widespread effort in all of the schools to support the agencies of the Community Chest," William J. Tway, director of the campaign said today. Check of the report indicated that Lincoln school subscribed 100 per cent, exceeded its quota and led the city schools in pro rata returns to the Chest fund. John Muir school with 100 per cent pledged and but $3 short of its quota was next in line for high honors. Other schools in which 100 per cent of the personnel pledged were Delhi, Franklin, Fremont, Hoover, Juvenile home, Jefferson, McKinley and Wilson. The high school and junior college as well as some of the grade schools reported that in addition to the Chest pledges they had raised funds for relief work among students and families of the school. Nearly every school closely approached 100 per cent pledges numerically.

First reports were coming to the Chest headquarters this morning from business district solicitors who started work yesterday. Many additional reports are still outstanding in the public employees, public utilities and establishment divisions, while reports have not yet been had from Advance Gifts and Branch House divisions on prospects which last year contributed about $6000, the campaign director reported today.

A window display depicting activities of the Salvation Army is being shown in the central show window of the Montgomery Ward store, Fourth and Main streets, through the courtesy of that company, and thousands are thus being informed of the field of service of this Community Chest agency.

Stress was laid today by W. K. Hilliard, acting president of the Chest, on the exceptional record of Chest agencies in rendering service to children. Approximately 1500 boys and girls receive the training and advancement which is accorded by the Boy Scouts, the Girl Reserve Unit in the Y. W. C. A., and boys' classes in the Y. M. C. A. The field of service of the Children's Home Society and the Ruth Home deals with orphans and young girls, respectively. Thousands of children members of unfortunate families are aided through distribution of milk, bread, clothing, bedding, flour, wearing apparel and cloth, by the Red Cross, and the Salvation Army, and by utility service and foodstuffs provided in emergencies by the Veterans' Welfare, Hilliard pointed out.

TWO WIVES GIVEN DIVORCE DECREES

Two divorces have been granted superior court, both of the decrees being handed down by Judge H. G. Ames.

Mrs. Dora G. Prochnow, in addition to a decree of divorce from her husband, J. P. Prochnow, had her maiden name, Isadora Gable restored. Mrs. Prochnow told the court that after her marriage to Prochnow March 15, 1931 he became sullen and quarrelsome and demanded that she support him. He also demanded that she furnish him with money for the maintenance of real estate held in his own name. She told the court that she supplied money for upkeep of the home and to pay her husband's bills and when her funds were exhausted he told her to get out and stay away from the home.

Mrs. Helene Cummings was granted a divorce, custody of the couple's two children and $5 weekly for their support when she told the court that her husband, Leslie Cummings was irritable and cross and one time struck her in the face. She also charged that on one occasion, after abusing her, her husband forcibly ejected her from the grocery store where he was employed.

NAME CHAIRMAN FOR DEBATE HERE

Dr. W. S. Ament, head of the English department of Scripps college, has been selected to act as chairman for the first session of the Orange County Forum at the Santa Ana High school auditorium on Tuesday, October 24, it was announced today by Clara Morley, director.

The occasion will be the debate on Socialism between Norman Thomas, candidate for president on the Socialist ticket, and Major Clinton Wunder.

VOICE THREAT IF DAM BUILT ON S. A. RIVER

Orange county today was faced with the threat of further water spreading operations in the upper Santa Ana river if this county takes steps to erect a dam in Santa Ana canyon for water conservation and flood control purposes, following a statement made by Francis Cuttle, chairman of the Tri-Counties Water Conservation association.

Cuttle was quoted as saying that if Orange county "interferes with the natural flow of the Santa Ana river" it will be necessary for the water board of San Bernardino and Riverside counties to take action to protect themselves. The statement was made in response to a question as to what effect a dam in the Santa Ana canyon, or spreading operations below the Yorba bridge, might have and was made at the annual meeting of the board of directors of the water association and directors of the Tri-Counties Water Conservation committee.

Water Spreading
Cuttle's statement was interpreted by Orange county interests as meaning that the agreement between Orange and upper counties which agrees that no water shall be spread in the upper debris cone unless water is flowing at the Chapman street bridge, would be disregarded if Orange county erected a dam or interferes with the natural stream flow.

The meeting in Riverside was attended by a delegation from Orange county, including Rosa Shafer, former president of Associated Chambers of Orange County, J. F. Burke and Roy Browning, water engineer.

In a report submitted to the meeting, Cuttle said: "Although it has been stated and often repeated that the Water Conservation association is dealing only with storm water that would otherwise escape into the ocean, newspaper articles in Orange county seem to generally ignore the fact, and refer to the diversion of water on the upper Santa Ana river as being very injurious to Orange county."

Cities Figures
"As a matter of cold figures, the total supply tributary to Orange county is 446,000 acre feet, while the amount of water available at Mentone for spreading by the Water Conservation association is 75,000 acre feet, or only 17 per cent of the total, while the entire upper basin contributes 235,000 acre feet, or 52 per cent of the flow (water resources bulletin No. 19, page 200), the water supply tributary to Prado is 390,000 acre feet; this is five times the river flow at Mentone, and of 17 per cent available only 8 per cent was spread from the years 1913 to 1931 inclusive.

"Another illuminating fact as to the water supply in the upper and lower counties is that Orange county's plain has an irrigated area of 112,000 acres, and receives a water supply at Prado of 135,300 acre feet per annum, and below Prado 56,000 acre feet, a total of 172,300 acre feet, equivalent to 1.72 acre feet per acre per annum. In the upper basin Riverside and Temescal have an irrigated area of 101,000 acres depending upon a water supply of 126,900 acre feet at Bunker Hill dyke, or 1.26 acre feet per acre per annum.

Regulated Flow
"The records show that the flow of water at Prado is the best regulated flow of water of any large water supply in Southern California, due to the successive storage in the upper basin (above Bunker Hill dyke) Riverside basin or Jurupa basin and Prado basin. As a result of the storage of irrigation return water and spreading water in these basins, the summer flow at Prado during the four dry years from 1928 to 1931 remained practically stationary as compared with the flow of the San Gabriel river at the Whittier narrows, which dropped in the same period over 50 per cent. Furthermore with a total area now irrigated above Prado of 220,000 acres, the summer flow at Prado was greater by 30 per cent than it was in the years of 1873 to 1930 inclusive, when the corresponding irrigated area was less than 40,000 acres."

OPEN REVIVAL AT NAZARENE CHURCH

The revival services now being held in The Church of the Nazarene of Midway City by the Rev. J. P. Wear of Escondido, are attracting widespread interest. It was announced today by the Rev. J. A. Wootton, pastor. The Rev. Mr. Wear's theme for Sunday night was "Midway City With the Lid Off." His scripture setting was of the Gadarean devil.

He said that the devil's characteristics were always the same as the one at Gadara, that their names were legion and that there were many of them. He identified the devil as first, an intelligent devil, second as a fault-finding devil, third a walking devil, fourth as a talking devil, fifth a worshiping devil and last as a naked devil. He invited the folks to think and watch while he described him and that if they recognized any of the characteristics that they should know that they had the devil located. His theme for Monday night was "The Defense and the Remedy."

SUIT FILED IN TRADE BENEFIT CONTROVERSY EXPECTED FROM OVER ESTATE MEXICAN TOUR

Alleging wrongful acts on the part of the First National Bank of Santa Ana, as trustee, Sheldon C. Wheeler has filed suit against the bank, his father, John L. Wheeler, and the San Joaquin Fruit and Investment company. In his suit he is seeking to have the alleged wrongful acts of the bank, as trustees set aside and to have terms of the trust enforced.

According to the complaint Wheeler's father and mother, the late Mrs. Louise C. Wheeler, created a trust whereby they set aside and assigned to the First National Bank of Santa Ana as trustee all their real and personal property. Real property involved in the trust consisted of a 40-acre orange grove in the Irvine district and a home in Santa Ana. The real property comprised oil, and bank stock and six life insurance policies totalling $39,500.

Property Mortgaged
The ranch, according to the complaint was mortgaged for $50,000, the San Joaquin Fruit and Investment company holding the mortgage. The home was mortgaged to the First National Bank for $40,000. On September 25, 1930, according to the complaint, the elder Wheeler executed a new mortgage and satisfied the original mortgage on the home property.

According to Wheeler's complaint, under the terms of the trust all personal property of his mother's, upon her death was to be distributed to his father and the remainder of the property in the trust divided into two equal parts. The elder Wheeler, under the trust, could, upon written demand, have a half of the trust. Mrs. Wheeler died November 13, 1930, and according to allegations in the complaint filed today the bank, acting as trustee, failed to divide the estate into two equal parts.

The son, in his complaint, alleges that in 1931 the bank conveyed to Wheeler half of the ranch property, the home in Santa Ana, all ranch equipment, jewelry and personal property of his mother, 500 shares of stock in the Merchants Petroleum company, two and one-half shares of Farmers and Merchants Savings Bank stock and insurance policies totalling $13,000. He also alleges that, through failure to pay premiums, the bank, as trustee, allowed other insurance policies totalling $7000 to lapse.

The elder Wheeler, the complaint charges, also was allowed to withdraw all money on deposit in the bank on February 14, 1929, and thereafter, totalling in excess of $40,000.

The division of the ranch property, young Wheeler alleges was unfair in that his father was given the most valuable half. He declared that the portion awarded his father was valued at $15,000 more than the half that remained in the trust.

Half Paid
Before the death of his mother, Wheeler charged, a payment of $5000 had been made on the principal of the mortgage against the ranch, leaving a balance of $45,000. On October 2, 1932, the suit alleges, John Wheeler without the knowledge or consent of either his son or the First National Bank was credited with payment of $23,875.10 on the mortgage and had his half of the mortgage released, leaving a balance of $22,500 against the half remaining in the trust.

Wheeler alleges that the trust does not permit the renewal of mortgages or the borrowing of money to satisfy existing indebtedness and the bank claims that it has no right to either renew the mortgage or further encumber the property.

In his prayer for relief Wheeler is asking for judicial determination of the rights of the trustee. He is also asking the court to order the bank to render a full accounting of property and the estate and its disposition; determine the acts of the trustee in handling the estate, wrongful and contrary to terms of the trust and because of this cancelled. He is also asking that all property be restored to the estate and made subject to

NEW MANAGER FOR NICHOLS DOLLAR STORES

Announcement of the entrance of George A. Scott into the active general management of the Nichols Dollar stores was made today by J. C. Nichols, president and founder of the Nichols chain.

According to Scott a great plan of expansion of the Nichols stores is under way under his direction. Scott said: "We are looking toward the future with increased optimism. Despite the fact that the Nichols chain was started when the depression was at its height they finished their first year and a half in great shape in all cities in which they are located, Huntington Park, Long Beach, Hollywood and Santa Ana."

The Santa Ana store is one of the most successful units, Scott said today. Relative to the local store he said: "Stores such as Nichols operate without the added cost of frills and fancy services thereby making it possible to sell merchandise at much lower prices than they could if these services existed."

"We have no delivery or C. O. D. costs to add to our retail prices. No charge accounts and losses that result from them. All of these savings are reflected in Nichols' low prices on merchandise of quality."

"Another feature of the Nichols system of operation is that the managers of the stores are picked whenever possible from the assistants who start working at the very bottom. This possibility of progress and advancement offered the men spurs them on to provide a service from their salespeople of the highest order."

Another feature pointed out by Mr. Scott was the advance planning of purchases and sales for example this coming Dollar Days' event in the Santa Ana store next Thursday, Friday and Saturday. For weeks plans have been made and purchases of special merchandise arriving daily from eastern markets.

Prior to assuming active management of the Nichols chain, Scott was associated for a long number of years in a merchandising managerial position with Walker's department store in Los Angeles and recently was in directorial charge of their eastern buying office in New York.

"Advertising," said Scott, "is of vital importance in the success of the Nichols Stores. I have increased our expenditures in the Santa Ana Register with a resulting increase in sales which after all proves the well accepted theory, that if you have reasonable merchandise of good quality at a fair price and tell the public about it they will respond." Mr. Scott believes with the late Mr. Wrigley: "Tell 'em quick and tell 'em often."

GOVERNMENT CALLS 4TH LIBERTY BONDS

In all of its 122 branches situated throughout Southern California, the Security-First National bank is now assisting the government in exchanging or redeeming Fourth Liberty Loan bonds in accordance with the Treasury's public notice of October 12, it was announced here today by Frank J. Was, manager of the Santa Ana branch.

The bonds called for redemption bearing serial numbers ending with the digits 9, 0 or 1, or if they are of the permanent coupon type of bonds, having the prefix of the letters J, K or A. Interest on such bonds will cease on April 15, 1934.

If your Fourth Liberty Loan bonds are not included in the group described above, you may exchange the bonds for a new issue of 10 to 12 year Treasury bonds dated October 15, 1933, and bearing interest at the rate of 4 1/2 per cent (the same as the Liberty bonds) per annum until October 15, 1934, and thereafter at the rate of 3 1/2 per cent," he said.

T. L. M'FADDEN CITY ATTORNEY OF PLACENTIA

PLACENTIA, Oct. 17.—T. L. M'Fadden was elected city attorney for Placentia last night following resignation of Albert Launer. Launer gave no reasons for resigning and his verbal notice, accepted at the session, came as a surprise.

Earl Everett presided at the session in the absence of the mayor, Clarence Halber. Part of the evening was spent in discussion of the collection of business licenses, particularly concerning whether full collections be made from business firms opening offices near the close of a fiscal year.

Launer reported that in making applications for funds for the new city hall buildings, the city would be given two ways of financing, that of making a lease to the government for 50 years, where a 50 per cent vote will carry the issue, or that of voting bonds, where a two-thirds majority will be required. He further stated that the reports for the cities have to be made concerning litigation against the projects the city wants the government to assist in financing.

Frank Rospaw suggested the R. F. C. funds be used to supply labor to plant trees in the parking of Placentia, like is being done at Brea.

INFLATION IS DISCUSSED AT CLUB SESSION

ORANGE, Oct. 17.—More money is not needed to carry on business in the United States," declared Dr. Orre Monnette, vice president of the Bank of America, in a talk on "Inflation," before the Orange Men's club last night.

Dr. Monnette pointed out that inflation is of seven different varieties and that it might come from a rise in commodity prices which would be welcome if it came about in a wise way; by credit expansion with an ability to borrow on the same thing or on less security or by increased expenditure for government work.

"While we are facing an acute problem which we believe the latter method may help to solve," the speaker said, "we cannot help but ask how will the money for this work be paid back."

The fourth method of inflation the speaker named as the devaluation of dollars; the fifth an increase in pocket cash, the sixth an increase in quantity of credit and the seventh as the increase in quality of credit without reference as to whether security is good or bad.

The speaker declared that more money is now in circulation in the nation than was in circulation in 1927. At that time, 3 billions 900 millions were in circulation and the present time, 4 billion, 400 million are being circulated, with 35 per cent less activity.

Dr. Monnette advocated the return to and the retention of the gold standard of the United States. In going off the gold standard, he declared, the people had reputed their promise and he designated the gold standard as the only anchor representing sound currency. The speaker pointed out the fluctuating value of the dollar and its measure by various standards varying from 87 cents at home, the cost of living slightly above par, the price of wholesale farm products at 53 cents and by retail food prices, 97 cents and by the Wall Street stock price of 37 cents.

Dr. Monnette, who has just returned from a 12,000 mile motor trip across the country, declared that he was greatly encouraged by the findings of the trip.

"Of course we will work out of the present situation," declared the speaker, as he advised his listeners to study the history of other depressions. "There is a degree of confidence and belief present throughout the country that we will weather the storm."

The speaker urged the support of the president. He said he believed Roosevelt would try to get by without currency inflation. Monnette declared that a hectic session of congress was in prospect and that 10 bills regarding inflation were to be presented to the body.

The speaker declared that frozen assets were over-estimated as a cause for the present situation and that he believed that it is criminal for newspapers to talk about frozen assets being tied up in banks. The subject is complex, he said, and the assets do not represent actual money.

Council To Lease School Subject To Vote On Site

ELECTION ON LOCATION AND BONDS PLANNED

Decision to enter a bid for the rental of the old Willard school building at Tenth and Main streets for use as a city hall was made by the city council last night, with the provision that any lease should become void if the voters of Santa Ana go to the polls on December 19 and approve the building of a new city hall at Third and Main streets.

Previous to the motion to enter the bid, made by Councilman William Penn, the council accepted a petition signed by 2641 registered voters, asking that the city negotiate for a loan from the federal government and build a new city hall at Third and Main streets, the proposition to be approved first at an election in the near future.

Future Considered

James Harding, speaking on behalf of the Civic Affairs Association of Santa Ana, stated that the petitions were circulated for five days and that 200 additional names were secured too late to be added to the petition. He outlined all the favorable arguments for the Third and Main site and recommended that a three story building with basement be built along commercial lines, so that at any future date, should the city decide to plan a civic center, the building could be sold.

He spoke against the proposition that the city hall question be settled at the same election as the state water bonds on December 19, on the theory that one ballot might influence the other. The council turned down his request, however, and Councilman A. F. LeGaye expressed the sentiment of the trustees when he said that there was no need for the extra expense of a special election. He also recommended that the voters be allowed to vote for the selection of a site.

Argues for Lease

Penn's explanation of the move to bid for the old Willard school site was that regardless of whether the bonds carried or not, it would be at least a year before a change could be made. He said that by spending $2000 remodeling the school building and paying the rent, the city would spend little more than paying rent for quarters in a private building. In event the bonds did not carry, the city hall would be adequately fitted up until a permanent change could be made. In his motion, he stipulated that at the end of three years, the lease could be terminated by the consent of both parties. The motion also included that the terms should be the same as those agreed upon at a conference between the city council and board of education several weeks ago. This provides that the rent will be paid on a graduated scale starting at $500 for the first year. The second year's rent will total $600; rent for the third year will be $900; fourth year $1200 and $1500 for the fifth year.

Federal Loan Costs

In further explaining the benefits of securing a federal loan and building a city hall near the central part of the city, Harding said that his computations showed that for the first year, there would be a charge of 35 cents on each $1000 of assessed valuation. He pointed out that there are 168 special assessment districts in Santa Ana, more than half of which will be retired next year and more than 80 per cent in the next three years. With this decided decrease in taxes, added to the economies already instituted by the city council, he predicted that the tax bills would be considerably lower even with the cost of a city hall.

Harding said that most of the names on the petition were secured from tables maintained last week in the Grand Central Market, at Fourth and Main streets and on Fourth street between Main and Sycamore streets. The petitions called for the erection of a new city hall with federal funds at Third and Main streets.

Commends Council

W. B. Martin, president of the Civic Affairs association, spoke briefly and announced that the campaign was not to be construed as a real estate venture but a civic move in the best interests of Santa Ana. His talk was followed by a motion that the petition be turned over to City Clerk Ed Vegely and City Attorney Clyde Downing for checking.

Prior to the presentation of the petition, a letter was read from the Santa Ana Realty Board in which the council was commended in its savings in governmental affairs. The communication also recommended that the city take advantage of the federal loan and build a new city hall on the original site at Third and Main streets. The letter was signed by Secretary R. J. Van Drimlen.

SCOUT PATROLS WIN HONORS AT L. A. CAMPOREAL

Members of four Orange county Scout patrols have returned from participating in the big regional Boy Scout Camporeal in Griffith park, Los Angeles, over the week end, bidding with them as high honors as any units in the more than 1000 Boy Scout troops represented in the camping program.

With Scoutmaster H. E. Douglas in charge and led by Roy Hill, Placentia troop No. 100 was chosen as one of those selected as placing in first ranking order in the Camporeal. The event was non-competitive, the Scouts competing in camping and outing events against a high standard, and not against each other. Harrison E. White, county Scout executive, pointed out.

While the Placentia unit came out as high as possible in the event, other troops in the county were highly commended for their work. Troop 25, Santa Ana, led by Les Boyle, scoutmaster, was one of the ranking troops in the event. Boys from here who took part in the two-day event were Harvey Hemphill, Harrison White Jr., Dan Pinnix, Marvin Webb, Joe Bradford, Jack Lentz, Wilbur Marsters and Lyle Boyle.

REPORT SHOWS UNCOLLECTED INSTALLMENT FINES OF $8666; COLLECTION AID REFUSED

Refusing offers of the city council to employ a collector to attempt the clearing up of unpaid installment fines in the city police court, amounting to $8666, Judge J. G. Mitchell yesterday afternoon maintained that he was an elective officer and not liable to the council or other city agency.

The council proffered the use of $5000 to pay fines would be a collector when an auditor's report showed that in the two and one-half years of Mitchell's term, $8666 due on installment payments had not been paid. The figures showed that $12,827.50 had been levied in fines to be paid in installments and that $3645.50 had been received as down payments. Only $516 had been paid since 1931, a collection rate of about five per cent, the report showed. About 400 accounts are outstanding.

Asks Private Hearing

Judge Mitchell defended his record in office by saying that he was satisfied with his methods of conducting his duties and was legally free from any interference. He said he has been sending out delinquent notices during the past two months and has issued bench warrants in several cases where accounts were not paid. He scored City Auditor Lloyd Banks for issuing figures and statistics to the press and requested that the council meet with him in executive session to discuss the matter.

Councilman A. F. LeGaye countered with the statement that the collection of fines was a public matter and that the council did not hold executive sessions. He pointed out that in the interests of good government, the delinquencies should be cleared up and since the city recorder had collected only about $100 in three months, perhaps a collector would work more efficiently.

Cites New Law

City Attorney Clyde Downing was asked to give a legal opinion on the obligation of Mitchell to collect the back fines. Downing read section 1446 of the statutes governing cities, which states that when a fine is to be paid within a limited time or on specific dates, and the defendant defaults, he shall be immediately arrested and made to show cause why he should not be imprisoned until the fine is paid in full.

Mitchell and Downing both explained that the 1933 amendment of this section provided for the arrest of the defendant for defaulting but that the 1931 section, under which Mitchell has been operating, merely states that the defendant is liable to imprisonment. Directly asked by LeGaye if he were issuing warrants under the new amendment which was effective in August, Mitchell said he was not and that he had not read the new clause.

Councilman William Penn argued that if a collector worked in conjunction with Mitchell, additional facts on the ability of per-

WATER USERS HOLD MEETING FOR CANDIDATE

Independent water users of the sixth division of the new Orange County Water district held a rally last night at Huntington Beach Memorial hall in the interest of the candidacy of Willis H. Warner for trustee from that division. D. Roy White, secretary of the Warner campaign, opened the meeting and introduced Ross Shaffer of Tustin, speaker of the evening. Vernon C. Heil of Oceanview is the other candidate in this district.

Shaffer said that property owners plan and method of voting at the election and urged the election of Warner, prominent hardware merchant of the beach city. He said the independent water users stood for an economical administration of the water district as opposed to the organized water corporations and other interests.

Shaffer said that property owners and mineral right owners had the right to vote at the election and no others. He said a property owner could vote all his property in one division at one precinct, whether the property was located in one precinct or not. He explained that property owners whose property was scattered over more than one division, had to vote the property in the division where it was located, but could vote all the property in a division in any one precinct.

Ballots will be given applicants at the polls, which will be stamped with the number of votes the voter may cast, at the rate of one vote for each $100 worth of real property or mineral rights, assessed, he explained. Husband and wife holding property as joint tenants may vote together as one. Land owners may give proxies to vote for them at the election, if the land owners do not reside in the district and desire to have their property voted by proxy, the speaker said.

PARTY PLANNED

WESTMINSTER, Oct. 17.—A Halloween party for boys of the community is planned by Westminster Girl Scouts. The party will be held at the Scout cabin at a date to be decided later.

The fine is satisfied in full. No imprisonment under this section shall exceed one day for every $2 of the fine."

ADMIT THEFTS: HELD ON $5000 BOND FOR TRIAL

Confessing to several holdups and robberies, Morris Wahrhaftig, 25; Lawrence A. Cahill, 35, and Clifford Y. Box, 17, waived their preliminary hearing yesterday in justice court and were held to answer in superior court on charges of robbery against Ray Mossberg, 824 North Van Ness street. Each is held under $5000 bail.

The three men, arrested in Compton for failing to make a boulevard stop and inability to explain ownership of the car they were driving, were brought to the county jail Saturday. Southern California authorities had been searching for them since Thursday when they held up and robbed Mossberg of a watch and $1 in cash near the Bolsa Chico Gun club.

Two of the suspects told a story of leaving the Midnight Mission in Los Angeles Wednesday night and stealing a car in Glendale. Journeying to Long Beach, they robbed a store on the pike and took cigarettes and clothing. On the way to San Diego, they picked up the 17-year old boy and a few miles farther, gave Mossberg a ride.

After taking Mossberg's money and watch, they robbed two men who were sleeping in their car near San Diego and then returned to Compton Saturday. Box is said to have served two terms in Texas for burglary. Wahrhaftig is believed to be a member of a famous New York gang and Cahill served 12 years in the Navy.

Two Pastors Officiate At Pretty Church Ceremony

Uniting in marriage Miss Mary Detweiler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. U. A. Detweiler, 611 Cypress avenue, and Paul Baxter, son of Mrs. H. J. Baxter, 929 Spurgeon street, an impressive ceremony was read Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in Spurgeon Memorial church.

The soft yellow which the bride observed in her costume was evidenced in altar decorations of chrysanthemums. The Rev. G. E. Waddell, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, officiated, assisted by the Rev. C. M. Aker, pastor of Spurgeon Memorial church.

The bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Lawrence Owen (Erma Baxter) sang "At Dawning" and "I Love You Truly." Mrs. Edwin Keeler of Long Beach was at the organ for Lehengrin's Wedding March, to which the bridal party entered, and other numbers.

Entering on the arm of the bridegroom's cousin, J. O. Baxter of Long Beach, Miss Detweiler was a charming bride in her form fitting gown of yellow tulle with which she wore crystals and carried white roses and sweet peas. Her sister, Miss Anna Detweiler, as maid of honor, wore apricot tulle and carried salmon-hued sweet peas and blue delphiniums.

Little Miss Leona Shambaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Shambaugh of Orange, was flower girl, carrying a long green tulle brooch Clifford Baxter attended her brother as best man. Ushers were Lawrence Owen, Wesley Farney and John Detweiler.

The bridal party formed a reception line at the rear of the church, and then went to the Detweiler home where ice cream, cake and coffee were served to 75 guests. The three tiered wedding cake had been baked and decorated by Mrs. Detweiler. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Anna Ragan, Mrs. J. H. Daniger, Mrs. Lester Shambaugh and the daughters of the home, the Misses Anna and Lois Detweiler.

For the occasion the bride's mother was gown in printed green and white crepe and Mrs. Baxter in deep blue crepe, both with gardenia corsage bouquets.

Mrs. M. I. Robertson, had made the trip from her home in Missoula, Mont., to attend the ceremony. She wore black with gardenias.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Baxter left for Huntington Park, where their home was in readiness. Mr. Baxter is employed in Los Angeles.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

EAT AND GROW SLIM

Luncheon

Salad plate:
Lettuce hearts
1-4 cantaloupe, sliced
1 ripe pear, sliced
3 Tablespoons cottage cheese
2 Tbsp. mineral oil mayonnaise
2 graham crackers
Clear tea, no sugar.
Calory Total, 260.

Line the salad plate with lettuce heart leaves, arrange the sliced cantaloupe or Casaba melon when cantaloupes are out, the ripe sliced pear, and the cottage cheese moulded in little balls. Pour the salad dressing over and serve at once.

You'll find that this will be a prime favorite with the whole family. Substitute regulation mayonnaise for the mineral oil mayonnaise, and serve buttered toast or hot corn muffins and jam.

Are you having trouble with rough chapped hands and arms? Try this lotion:
Put 4 ounces of glycerine in a 6-oz. bottle. Fill bottle with vinegar and shake well. Apply after washing and drying the hands.
I got this from a woman who does cleaning from one year's end to the other's beginning, yet her hands are never rough. Simple, isn't it? And, in a pinch, it can be used as a make-up base.
Season baking squash with tiny bits of diced bacon and brown sugar. Twice as nice as sugar and butter!

TODAY'S RECIPE

Cranberry Cocktail
3 halved canned pears
2 bananas
2 slices pineapple
2 cups thin cranberry sauce.

—Contributed recipe.

Judging from the quantities in this recipe, it would provide material for eight cocktails.

Dice the three fruits and put in a bowl, pour the chilled cranberry sauce over and put in refrigerator to chill until served.

I suppose the cranberry sauce is served without straining—"it would be nicer in my opinion. About 1 1/2 cups of water would be about right. Do not sweeten until sauce is cold, then use sugar to suit your taste. Adding sugar to acid fruits after cooking saves on sugar.

INVESTIGATORS OF BEER PARLORS TO MAKE REPORT SOON

City investigators of beer-selling establishments in Santa Ana were granted another week to make a report by the city council last night when Police Commissioner E. G. Warner requested the delay.

Warner announced that he, City Attorney Clyde Downing and Police Chief Floyd Howard had spent the last two Saturday nights inspecting the Hof Brau at Third and Broadway, the Kennedy Malt Shop on East Fourth street and several other places.

"Although our final report will be made next week, I might say that the Hof Brau is being operated as well as it could be conducted," Warner said. "The management is doing its best to eliminate the bootlegger and has several bouncers to remove persons who come there to boot-legs."

Following reports of rowdiness and drunkenness at these places it was charged by the chief of police that such conditions were not the fault of the cafes but of persons that came to the cafes with their own liquor and became drunk. The council instructed the committee that any and all licenses would be revoked unless the cafes were conducted according to law and in a decent manner and several members have declared they would not permit these places to become public nuisances.

FULLERTON, Oct. 17.—Miss Rhoda Foster, national secretary of the Y. W. C. A., discussed the various activities in which groups of young women engage, with the newly organized group of young women at the home of Mrs. Antoinette Nanno last night.

Clubs made up of women either in business, in college, or in school, are developing all over the country because of the economic conditions existing, she said. The groups discuss the international and national situations, study drama, literature, or meet for recreational purposes, Miss Foster said.

GEO. EMERSON RE-ELECTED AS BEEMEN'S HEAD

NEWPORT BEACH, Oct. 17.—Election of officers took place at the closing session of the four-day convention of Southern California Beemen at the Balboa pavilion, where all sessions were held. George L. Emerson was re-elected president, Carl Wurth, of Riverside, was chosen first vice president, James G. Thompson, of Los Angeles, secretary; Charles Kenzie, of Arlington, second vice president, and Frank Buchanan, of Glendale, A. K. Whidden, of Valley Center, and Roy Marks, of Ventura, the executive committee.

Honey and lemon juice are among the best things to take for colds, it was stated, and the combination is particularly recommended by nature doctors. Honey is also much preferable to sugar for such delicate uses as sweetening babies' milk, it was brought out.

Some remarkable cases of the use of honey as a disinfectant were told by delegates. Amputation of legs has been prevented by the use of honey on the infected parts, it was stated by President Emerson.

Dr. J. E. Edkirt of the University of California was a speaker at the closing session, and he told of the valuable experimental work being done by the state university in compiling new uses for honey in the home and in industry. Lower grades of honey are being used in the manufacture of vinegar and alcohol, it was stated.

Don't take calomel! HERE'S NEW HEALTH FOR YOUR LIVER

Now banish bad breath, pimples, constipation; feel like a million!

That tired, frowny feeling in the morning, that "dark-brown" taste in the mouth—if you would banish them and win back buoyant health, don't expect relief from salts, mineral oil, or candy and chewing-gum laxatives.

For such remedies only move the bowels. While chances are, you're one of the thousands suffering from sluggish liver which does not yield sufficient bile—causing pimples, blemishes, headaches, bad breath and a general run-down feeling.

What you need is something which acts thoroughly but harmlessly upon the liver. And in Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets you will find that "something" which stimulates the bile flow.

A successful substitute for calomel, these famous tablets are compounded of pure vegetable ingredients, and have been praised for years by millions. To get and keep the bile flowing freely—correcting constipation, skin troubles, and win back that "fine-and-dandy" feeling of youth—go to your druggist for Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets today. 15c, 30c, 60c.—Adv.

New Officers Selected For Two Farm Centers

C. JACK ZINN PRESIDENT OF ORGANIZATION

LA HABRA, Oct. 17.—C. Jack Zinn, of La Habra, was elected president of the La Habra Farm center at the annual meeting held at the social hall Monday evening. Other officers elected are George Eaby, vice president, and A. C. Adams, secretary-treasurer. M. J. Pickering, retiring president, was elected as a director from this center to the Orange County Farm Bureau with R. F. Frantz as alternate.

The meeting opened with 6:30 o'clock dinner at which members of the farm center and their friends were guests. Music during the dinner hour was furnished by the Misses Eleanor and Evelyn Robinson, who played piano solos and duets. M. J. Pickering and Miss Eleanor Robinson played a piano duet. Speakers of the evening included Assemblyman Frank Wright, of Whittier, who spoke on the state water plan and the sales tax. In speaking of the sales tax, he stated that he felt the sales tax was the most equitable tax in California and that thousands of people in California are becoming tax conscious for the first time.

R. D. Flaherty, secretary of the farm bureau, discussed the objectives of the farm bureau in the community and state and as a national organization.

H. E. Wahlberg, farm advisor, and Mrs. Wahlberg were present. He recalled a time 13 years ago when he and Mrs. Wahlberg, then bride and groom, were honored guests of the La Habra center. The survey being made by the county farm bureau concerning "rough" oranges in the county was announced by Mr. Wahlberg. He said the trouble was not widespread. He also announced the avocado institute, to be held in the early part of March, at Tustin.

A. W. McBride gave a report on the recent farm bureau meeting at Whittier. Arthur Moore, past president of the La Habra 4-H club, gave a short talk about 4-H club work in La Habra and Jimmie Launer, also a local 4-H member, gave a talk on the benefits derived from attending the annual 4-H club conventions held at Davis.

OUTING, PARTY ARRANGED FOR HARBOR SCOUTS

NEWPORT BEACH, Oct. 17.—A combination court of honor and Halloween party will be held by Boy Scout troop No. 5 of Newport Beach the end of this month.

Members of the trip enjoyed a week end outing to the county Boy Scout camp in Limestone canyon, several merit tests being on the program. Those going camping were Scoutmaster Vernon Orr, Assistant Scoutmaster Wilford McDonald, Jack Dodge, Laurell Sharnan, Billy St. Clair, James Lockwood, Robert Hoke, Arthur Hooker, Harry Lane and Vernon Orr Jr. Plans are being made for the reorganization of a Cub Scout troop at Newport Beach.

The boys of Costa Mesa troop No. 6 made preliminary arrangements for a Halloween camping trip to Limestone canyon at the end of October. The camp will include all potential tenderfoot Scouts and Cub Scouts, besides the regular Scouts. A tenderfoot class including Robert Winterbourne, Warren Flint, Leroy Shilling, Robert Gasklon, Robert Stevenson and Philip Wilson, was given first instructions in Scouting by Troop Committee member Frank Vele. Older Scouts employed the meeting in passing various tests and in games. At a recent meeting of a group of members of the Costa Mesa Men's brotherhood, it was agreed to sponsor a Cub Scout troop here. The brotherhood president, Roy Davis, will name a troop committee within the next few days.

CHARGE BOOKS OF CITY CLERK SHORT $760.28

TUSTIN, Oct. 17.—A total shortage of $760.28 in the books of Philip Brooks, city clerk of Tustin, was shown in a report by F. Murray Robinson, auditor of the firm of Crenshaw, Diehl and Wright, of Santa Ana, and read at last night's city council meeting by J. R. Harbour, appointed clerk pro-tem by Mayor William Huntley.

Brooks is being held in the county jail on a charge of grand theft and falsifying accounts of the city of Tustin, having been arrested Saturday. The complaint charges the theft of $429.05.

The audit, which was dated September 16, 1933, showed the following summary of errors: Miscellaneous errors, $32.50; business licenses not recorded, $208; judge's fines not deposited, $71; taxes erroneously reported, $448.78; total disclosed shortage, $760.28.

It was voted to accept the auditor's report, subject to correction of garbage and trash collection and truck rental and subject to any supplementary reports.

The clerk pro-tem read a letter from the National Surety company and the National Surety corporation, asking that they be released from liability on and after October 1, 1933, under bond for Brooks. October 1 is the date the premium runs out. It was voted to table the request of the two bonding companies to cancel the bond of the clerk until the next regular council meeting on November 6. Brooks' bond was for $1000.

Chief of Police John Stanton stated that he knew of a shortage of $10 which had occurred since the books were audited and added that he had been unable to find any place on the books where Brooks had paid his own business license for the cleaning establishment the past year. Mayor Huntley said that Brooks gave "carelessness and neglect" as the excuse for his errors.

Brooks is being held under $2500 bail fixed by Judge Kenneth Morrison. Brooks waived his preliminary hearing and his trial will come up at 9 a. m., October 20, in Department 3 of the superior court before Judge G. K. Scovel, with Deputy District Attorney Leo Fris handling the prosecution. Written applications of Hawley J. Selway and J. R. Harbour for the position of city clerk, were read by the clerk pro-tem, and were ordered filed.

The council voted to adjourn to meet again at 7 p. m., October 24.

NEW HUNTINGTON BEACH OIL WELL FLOWING 4000 BARRELS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 17.—A typical well of the town lot field is pouring 4000 barrels of 27 gravity oil into the tanks today. The big new gusher is owned by Jack Doyle, Jack McKeon and Bob McKeon. This is the second completion of this group. They have other wells drilling in the same area.

The new well is located at the corner of Eighteenth and Walnut, which particular section of the field is turning out some remarkable wells. It was bought by the Doyle-McKeon interests in fee for $12,000.

Al Burkett of Santa Ana, got a big gasser at the corner of Twentieth and Walnut, where he and his associates bought the old Superior derrick and two lots for $25,000. Not satisfied with the several million feet of gas, Burkett killed the well and is redrilling deeper into the sand to convert his gasser into an oil well.

John H. Marion is still battling with his Sixteenth street well on the alley between Walnut and Ocean. He has the well back on the compressor and will try this plan again, following a thorough washing out of the well to reopen the slots in the liner.

Wallace and Shultz are redrilling the bottom 200 feet of their well on Eighteenth street near Olive in the second block from the ocean. The six inch liner got stuck in the well about 200 feet off bottom and would neither go up or down. The operators tried the well out with the open hole at the bottom but it was not a success. They are cleaning the well out and will set a four-inch liner inside the six inch.

BOSTON — (UP)—One of the queerest broken legs ever to come to the attention of City hospital doctors was that of Seth Wilson, 46. He fractured his left leg merely in stepping from the road onto a curbstone and didn't know the leg was broken until his physician told him about it.

NEW BOOKS

IN PUBLIC LIBRARY

By Verna Ramsey
Many people want to know what is the real meaning of the present revolution in Cuba and just how far the United States is implicated. In "The Crime of Cuba" Carleton Beals answers this question in no uncertain terms.

We are given the inside picture of the present Cuban revolt by an eye witness who has lived in and known the real Cuba. It throws clear light on the tangled relations of Machado's government with the banks and public utility interests and the intervention policy of the American State Department. It tells of the corruption of loans and sugar, and discloses the American financiers who hold the destiny of Cuba in their hands.

"The Crime of Cuba" is far more than expose. It delves into the life of the everyday Cuban of all classes and shows the cultural contributions of Negro and Spanish. It takes you with their awesome monarchical ceremonies, and describes the life of the white aristocrats. The historical background is broad. It includes the various Cuban struggles for independence, our war with Spain and the gradual absorption of the economic resources of the island by American capital. As Mr. Beals pictures Cuba, so does Walker Evans in his portfolio of photographs which are a valuable part of this book.

Few people know Latin America as intimately as does Carleton Beals. He has met all types under all imaginable conditions. Ever impatient of oppression he has been shut out of many countries for his fearlessness. With the publication of this book he will not be allowed to return to Cuba under the present regime. In this book, however, is the very flavor and spirit of Cuba—its stirring past, its tragic present, its hope for the future.

Does the triumph of the Nazi movement in Germany mean peace or war? Did the Nazi revolution save Germany from Communism or does it mean economic chaos for Germany? Is Hitler only a demagogue or is he a shrewd and sinister autocrat? Is the persecution of the Jews a mere skirmish on the economic front or is it a phase of permanent religious fanaticism?

The answers to these questions have been eagerly awaited by every thoughtful person. In "Germany Enters the Ring" Professor Calvin B. Hoover shows that the Nazi movement is not a harmless bit of theatricalism for home consumption, and that Hitler means to carry out even his fantastic ideas.

Professor Hoover, believing that Hitler must come to power, went to Germany to observe the progress of events. He has just returned from his year in Germany, where he witnessed the downfall of the Republic dedicated to getting along with the world. He saw the Third Reich ushered in dedicated to revenge and scrapping of the Treaty of Versailles. With the background of his knowledge of Communism in Russia he observed the conflict within Nazi ranks following their victory as they tried to destroy the old system and build a new one. His account of the political situation before the Nazi victory makes fascinating reading. Treating his material with scholarly detachment, the author nevertheless brings out the full dramatic value of the events.

He concludes that Hitlerism is a force to be respected and that it has come to stay. What this portends to the rest of the nations is a most important question of future international relations.

The details of our problems today often seem petty and irritating. It is at such times a relief to turn to the past—to a period when events were strikingly different from the present. Perhaps, they too had their annoying difficulties, but now only the glory remains.

There is one period that is rapidly disappearing. With the development of the modern steamboat, the days of the sailing vessel are nearly over. There are not many now living who can tell us from personal knowledge of the thrills, beauties and dangers of sailing before the mast. Captain Charles C. Oakes is one who has lived to the full this adventurous life. In "The Old Sea Chest," Captain Oakes tells of his adventures on the sea under conditions wholly different from such an existence today.

Captain Oakes spent his boyhood days in Yarmouth, Maine. Maine is noted for its ship building and Yarmouth contributed its full share. The sketches of this old town in Maine are vividly presented. Of his life at sea, Captain Oakes tells of thrilling and horrible incidents, of rescues, of the tragedies and comedies that composed his life. Names of places mentioned by him have their own charm. Bahia, Escondido, Dead Man's Isle, La Piedad de los Compadres, Abby Buxton Oakes tells interestingly of her voyages with Captain Oakes. Any reader who responds to the beauties and terrors of the sea will find himself truly repaid in the reading of this little volume.

COUNTY LIONS COUNCIL HEARS ASSEMBLYMAN

More than 10 per cent of the state's curtailed budget must be spent for the upkeep of those in state institutions, Assemblyman Craig declared at a meeting in the Brea Council at a meeting in the Brea Council at a meeting in the Brea Council

Pointing out what terrific expense the state is caused by the care of more than 21,000 persons in state institutions, besides about $600 in penal institutions, Assemblyman Craig declared that it costs the state $7,000,000 per biennium to care for the inmates. Less objection to the sales tax would be made, he said, if it were realized that there is a great need for this revenue, particularly in state welfare work.

Craig was introduced by Dr. Glenn Curtis, program chairman. C. O. Harvey, president of the council, presided at the session. Initiation of 13 "cubs," 10 of them from Garden Grove and three from Santa Ana, was the feature of the evening. The impressive induction ceremonies were in charge of Past District Governor E. H. Rowland, now a director of Lions International.

Those inducted were Dr. R. O. Grover, Therman Means and Howard Barrows of Santa Ana, and Al McCullough, Roland Rossette, Ed Kennerly, Dr. Joseph Virgil Sparks, C. K. Simpson, Rodney Collins, H. Clay Kellogg, Bob Smith and Leo Zaklet of Garden Grove.

Carson Smith, president of the members in his city with club emblems and framed codes of ethics. For having increased the membership of the Garden Grove club 100 per cent, Charles Lake, president of the Orange County Narcotics Club, was presented by Rowland with keys and cards emblematic of their service.

Fred Wenschutz, new deputy district governor, reported that the district is in excellent shape. He outlined ideals of the Lions club, which he said was the largest service club organization on the North American continent.

A talk scheduled to have been given by Ray Adkins, chairman of the Orange County Narcotics Compliance Board, was postponed until next meeting, to be held in Costa Mesa. Ivan Swanger spoke in favor of clubs launching a publicity campaign for NRA during the next month. The suggestion was adopted and each club president will name a committee to work in a county group for this purpose.

Miss Stella Friend and Miss Van Nieman, Los Angeles, sang several songs and played piano selections. Approval was expressed of clubs uniting to enter a float in the Armistice Day parade in Orange.

THE SUPREME COURT AND THE NRA

We are constantly having our attention called to the possible attitude of the Supreme court if a case involving the constitutionality of the NRA should come before it. A great deal has been written about it by those who are familiar with Supreme Court decisions involving principles connected with the NRA. There seems to be a practical unanimity on the part of these writers and commentators that there is little prospect that the Court will run counter to popular sentiment in the matter.

According to the best informed writers, the Court has in the past been very adept in side-stepping important issues. While hesitating to endorse a radical departure from Constitutional practice, the Court has been able to give its endorsement to certain types of legislation to which it has by precedent been hostile by avoiding the issue. In that way the legislation was not blocked, but neither was a precedent established to hamper the Court in the future.

As constituted at the present time, the Court is almost evenly divided on matters pertaining to social legislation and property rights. Three of the members can always be depended upon to take the liberal side. Four others are as consistently on the conservative side. The two remaining members are sometimes found on the liberal side, but more frequently on the conservative side. This makes a prophecy that the Court will refuse to block so important a measure as the National Recovery act as practically certain.

By the time that a case can be heard and decided by the court, the whole status of the act may be changed. It may have justified itself, in which case the court surely would not undo what good it has accomplished. If it should fail, the administration itself would not continue to use it.

FERRETING OUT THE RACKETEER AND THE GANGSTER

George Z. Medalie, former United States District Attorney for the district of Southern New York, made a powerful address recently before a group of business men, pointing out the way—the only way—the racketeer and the gangster can be put out of business.

The main difficulty in bringing these criminals to book has grown up out of the general practice that the police move only when information is brought to them. It is this system that has made racketeering possible. Nobody wants to put himself in danger by "peaching" on thugs and gangsters. Even business men high up are afraid to acquaint the police with such facts as they have.

Mr. Medalie says the remedy lies with the prosecuting officers to get the facts. He referred to his own experience as district attorney when he sent agents to 1200 contractors to find out what they knew about a certain gang that was terrorizing industry in New York. Out of 1200, not more than a dozen were willing to talk or give such information as they had. But that dozen was enough, and made it possible to break up the gang. The police, he said, cannot do that intensive work. It is the duty of the prosecuting officers of the state and nation. They have the power, and they have the agencies at their command.

We are inclined to believe that the remedy lies. And when the people wake up to that fact, perhaps racketeering will come to an end. The gangster has always had too powerful political affiliations.

CALLING IN THE LIBERTY BONDS

Now that the Government has called in more of its Liberty bonds before becoming due, there are lots of people troubled about where to put their money. To be sure, they can reinvest it in bonds bearing a lower interest, but 3 1/4 per cent does not look very well to the person of small means who has been getting 4 1/4 per cent on an investment as gilt-edged as a United States bond.

A few years ago even a 4 1/2 per cent government bond was looked upon with contempt. Savings banks in many parts of the country were paying five per cent. Mortgages at six and seven per cent were to be had on good property. The stock market was booming, and fortunes on paper were being made overnight.

All that is in the past. The postal savings offer but a limited field as to amount. Stocks and bonds are not bought readily, and there is serious question about many of them. Under the circumstances, it is rather hard for those who have a few Liberty bonds to know what to do with the money realized from the sale of them.

In the meantime, there is the disposition to hoard, which is not a good policy for anybody. Yet if banks are wary about giving credit, what can be expected from people with savings of a few hundreds of dollars? A banker of note said a few days ago that his vaults were choked with money; but there was no place to put it. What he meant was, no safe place. That is exactly the position of the man whose few hundreds of Liberty bonds have been called.

HOW LITTLE WE HEAR OF INTERNATIONAL DEBTS

A year ago the matter of the international debts was an issue of vital interest to most of our citizens. The press was full of the subject. In the political campaign of a year ago it was one of the great issues. Now it has dropped out of the forum of discussion. The feeling seems to be growing that they never will be paid, and that we may as well cross them off.

On December 15, another installment will be due. In June last, only one country, we believe, Finland, paid its full amount. England made a gesture of honesty by sending us a small payment, which was nothing more than a recognition of her obligation. Italy did the same. There it stopped; and there it looks as if it will stand when December 15 comes round.

Students of the international situation have seen this coming. The whole debt question, resting as it did upon the contingency that Germany would meet her reparation payments, passed out when Germany announced her inability to pay them. Now that Hitler has announced that Germany will never pay them, the interrelated debts will probably never be paid.

The European countries have agreed on cancellation of debts among themselves, contingent upon the cancellation by the United States. In the face of that agreement, it will not be easy for us to insist upon payment. It looks as if we have heard about the last of the matter. This certainly is the case if conditions in Europe do not radically change.

HOW ROOSEVELT CAME TO ATTEND THE LEGION CONVENTION

It has been stated that the advisors of the President counseled him not to go to Chicago to speak at the American Legion convention, but that he decided to go in spite of their advice.

Now it has been stated that he went at the urgent invitation of the high command of the Legion, which was fearful that the convention might get out of hand and pass resolutions which might discredit the Legion in the eyes of the country.

Well, we do not know the inside facts. All we know is what is rumored about from person to person. But, at any rate, the President did a good job, and the Legion on the whole drew up a creditable program of action.

YOUNG PECORA FAILS TO SUPPORT HEAD OF FATHER'S TICKET

There is slight indication that students are beginning to take more interest in governmental affairs. The news that we hope augurs change comes from New York. And it must have caused at least mild consternation in one household.

Louis Pecora, son of Attorney Ferdinand Pecora who is candidate for County District Attorney of New York on the McKee-Tamm ticket, heard Judge Seabury talk on behalf of the fusion ticket and its head, LaGuardia. He went up to the speaker afterward and told him how much he had enjoyed the address and announced that he was for LaGuardia. Young Pecora, who is a student at New York University will not be old enough to vote, however.

Leif's Annual Half Hour

New York Herald-Tribune

This is Leif Erickson Day. In the three States of Wisconsin, Minnesota and South Dakota it is recommended, by act of Legislature, that on October 9 of each year the schools of those States should give at least half an hour to exercises commemorating the landing of Leif the Lucky on the American coast. This seems a modest enough suggestion, hardly paying due deference to the traditions of our highly esteemed citizens of Scandinavian origin. Although the Norse adventurers in the North Atlantic started no such unbroken train of discoveries, wars and migrations as like the first voyage of Columbus with our own colonial and national history, the Icelandic records of them are a fascinating chapter in America's authentic history, and they deserve, for their inspirational value alone, much more attention than they have so far had outside of our Scandinavian communities.

The story must, of course, begin with Eric the Red, who took with him a covey named Herjulf when he left Iceland, an outlaw, in the year 986 and settled in Greenland. Herjulf's son Biarne, who was known to his contemporaries as a timid soul, found his father missing when he later returned to Iceland from a sojourn in Norway. With some misgivings he set out after Herjulf; but he was blown out of his course, southward and westward, and he saw land three times, but was too cautious to go ashore, before he worked his way northward to Greenland. Returning to Greenland from the court of Olaf Trygvasson, in the year 1000, Red Eric's son Leif heard Biarne's story and bought his ship. With a crew of thirty-five stalwarts he sailed back over Biarne's course, touching first at a rocky and then at a wooded coast, and finally came to that Vinland where he wintered and cut a cargo of timber.

Leif's brother Thorvald, who visited Vinland in 1002, was the first European to be killed by the Indians and buried in American soil. The first European child born on these shores was named Snorre, and his mother, Gudrid, was a woman whom Leif had rescued from a disabled ship on his return from Vinland. She became the wife of Leif's brother and, after his death, married and accompanied a Norse trader named Thorfinn Karlsefni to Vinland, where they spent three years buying furs from the Indians. Where these settlements were we may never know surely enough to mark Snorre's birthplace; and while this will seem a matter of no grave concern to any but the enthusiasts, the most indifferent must admit that the half hour a year which three Western States have dedicated to the memories of these earliest pioneers is not quite all that they deserve from a people that delights to honor heroic enterprises on this continent.

A Great Australian Flier

New York Times

No one has surpassed Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith as a long-distance aviator. His latest exploit reducing the record of flight from England to Australia by one day fifteen hours and fifty-four minutes, was an extraordinary performance, because he lost a day—"wasted" is the way he puts it—by a day's stop for illness.

It is singular that he suffered from "aquaphobia." Who has had greater experience in flying over the sea? He had traversed the Pacific from California to Australia, with stops at Hawaii and Suva, covering more than 6,000 miles, and had crossed the Atlantic from east to west. Over Asiatic waters in his numerous flights between England and Australia he had often braved their perils. Yet in his last record-breaking feat he was a "bundle of nerves." "I am getting too old for these stunts," said the adventurous Australian. Nevertheless, he will probably be found in the Melbourne centenary race next year, for which a prize of 15,000 pounds will be offered by the city of Melbourne. C. W. A. Scott, whose record Kingsford-Smith has just broken, rates him as "the best flier in the world."

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

HURRY

There are roads that I might follow
Over hill and over hollow,
Where there might be winding marshes
That turn gold at close of day;
There are pleasant little byways
Turning from the beaten highways,
I should like to learn their secrets,
But I must be on my way.

I can glimpse down distant reaches
Surf that rills the ocean beaches,
Where a dozen little inlets
Shine beneath the autumn sky.
There all day small boats are sailing;
But my hope is unavailing
To behold them from the hillside,
For I have to hurry by.

I can see two battered bridges
If I climb up little ridges.
Doubtless streamlets sing below them
Winding downward from the hill;
Banks of evergreen enfold them,
But I never shall behold them,
Or rest calmly in their murmur;
I must travel, travel, still.

Far away, on treetops swinging,
Happy careless birds are singing;
Far away I hear the lowing
Of the milch cows; far away
Where the dewdrops gleam and glisten
I should love to pause and listen
To the music of the birches;
But there isn't time today.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

A NEW BASIS FOR WAGES

I am, as every reader of these articles knows by now, all for the Roosevelt drive for shorter hours and higher wages. I am quite aware that this formula, sweeping in and inflexibly applied, hits and ruins some enterprises. But, by and large, it is moving in the only direction that leads to an intelligent adjustment of economic policy to the new methods of production in the power age.

We are always anywhere from a generation to a century behind in our thinking. We are usually working in one age and thinking in another. And our action flaps because our thought lags.

Even the Roosevelt regime is thinking of wages in terms of the old pre-power age. It is determining wages in terms of the number of hours a man spends on the job. It is too late to do that. We have some time since moved into the power age in which the person at work is less significant than the power available for getting work done.

Take the period from 1919 to 1929 and see what has happened to the relative importance of the person at work and the power available for getting work done. I have just examined an exhaustive study of forty representative industries for this period. In these ten years, the horse power capacity of these forty industries increased about 50 per cent, while the number of employees in these forty industries increased less than 6 per cent.

For a long stretch of the early years of the power age, as the power available for getting work done increased, the number of persons at work increased, although at a much slower pace. The capacity to purchase was thus increased as the power to produce was increasing, even if the increase in purchasing power played tortoise to the hare-like leap of the power to produce. But by 1929, the power to produce had leaped so far ahead and the power to purchase had lagged so far behind that a crisis fell upon us. And even while the crisis has been upon us invention has gone without sleep in its feverish effort to find ways and means of doing more work with less workers.

All of which has brought us to a point where we must face the fact that from now on, if we want to keep our machine economy a going concern, we must determine wages in the light of the power expended rather than in the light of the time expended in producing goods.

This is a revolutionary consideration that business men in general have declined to admit and that the Roosevelt regime has sensed but dimly.

To put it from a slightly different—but at heart the same—angle, from now on we must determine wages, not in terms of what we can buy the time of workers for, but in terms of how much must be spread out in wages to provide an adequate market for the output of our power economy.

SHY CHILDREN

The boldest child has its shy moments. The shy child has no bold ones. His life is burdened by fear to such an extent that he dreads the ring at the doorbell, the sound of a strange voice in the hall. The visitor may stay and he may be asked to speak to him. Maybe he is one of the dreadful sort who make you say pieces, wants you to sing for him. Such children die a thousand deaths.

Be merciful to such helpless children. When you see them hiding behind the chair, let them alone. Don't drag them out and say in your loudest most hearty tones, "Come out of there and let Mrs. Proudly see my beautiful son." Don't do that unless you want him to hate you along with Mrs. Proudly. Let him alone and when you get a chance to indicate to him that he can slip out and get away from the lady, do so.

It is sometimes necessary to bring the children into the room where the guests are sitting. If this is so plan for it so that the shy children can get through it without too much agony. Try having them in the room, and busy, when the guests come. Wave your hand toward them and say, "The children are making a picture book. Would you like to sit here? I'm anxious to show you my begonia. It's done wonderfully well this year. Do you raise any?"

Head off the guest's attentions to the children. Keep them at a distance. The children will gradually feel more at ease and when they learn that nobody will make them too prominent, they will get along better. Another way to help the shy child meet guests is to allow him to help receive them and wait on them. Take him to the door with you. Let him take the lady's belongings, if she is carrying anything beyond her purse. Let him stand by her chair, behind it if he likes. Let him carry in a tray and pass something to the guests. If he has something in his hand when he enters the room, if he has some definite duty to perform such as raising the shades, drawing out a table, bringing in a tray with a glass of water, laying a book on a side table, setting a candle in its holder, he will be less self conscious and lose his fear.

Fear comes to the uncertain child. The moment he is in doubt as to who or what or when, fear begins to work. Of course the stronger the hold his fear has upon him the shyer he is. By and by his feet are so heavy that he can't lift them, his ears hum so that he can't hear, his tongue sticks to the roof of his mouth, swollen and dry. He is in no condition to be in the room. The sooner he gets out the better for everybody.

Remove the uncertainty. Teach him exactly what he is to do, give him the very words he is to use, show him the spot in which he is to sit, go over the whole situation with him, and he will do better. Not in one day. But after many days of careful, affectionate and understanding training. And remember that a shy child usually needs more nourishing than he is getting, more and sounder sleep, more and happier play. And always more love. Love casteth out fear.
